Berlin High Command Says Russian Armor Beating Northward Toward Junction With Other Units Along Oder Have Broken Into Sorau

WHEELING MOVEMENT AIMED TO REICH CAPITAL

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—Red army troops have crashed through the Germans' Queis river line less than 68 miles from Dresden, a Moscow dispatch said today, and Berlin declared armored units to the north had broken into Sorau, junction city 83 miles southeast of Berlin.

Marshal Ivan Konev's forces, hitting westward "in a sensational threat to split Germany asunder south of Berlin," were approaching the upper Neisse river, which runs about 50 miles from Dresden, a direct Moscow dispatch declared.

COORDINATED AID SUPPORT IS PROVIDED

More Than 2,250 U. S. Bombers, Fighters Strike Germany in Wide-spread Attacks

FOLLOW NIGHT RAID

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—More than 2,250 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in wide-spread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was already burning from a night assault by 800 heavy RAF bombers.

Dresden is only 68 miles or less from advancing Russian troops, and is a nerve center of Nazi defenses in central Germany. The day and night air blows were in direct and coordinated support of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army.

The RAF bombed Dresden twice in attacks three hours apart. Part of the American force, consisting of more than 1,350 flying Fortresses and Liberators and 400 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets at Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Magdeburg, 70 miles west of Berlin.

A fourth formation was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of the Canadian First army on the western front.

Altogether the RAF dispatched 1,400 aircraft to Germany during the night. Other targets were a synthetic oil plant at Bohlen, south of Leipzig, objectives at Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of Berlin, and the railroad towns of Nuernberg, Bonn and Dortmund. All the night operations were at a cost of 16 bombers missing.

Sheltering homeless is tornado problem

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 14.—(P)—Sheltering the homeless was a major problem today as tornado-stricken areas in Alabama and Mississippi counted 41 dead, at least 200 injured, and hundreds of homes demolished.

The property loss from Monday's storm was expected to run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Nimitz Directing War From Guam

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, Feb. 14.—(P)—Marine and army patrols—sometimes armed with guns and sometimes with loud speakers—are clearing out the last few hundred Japanese from this island which Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today as his advance headquarters.

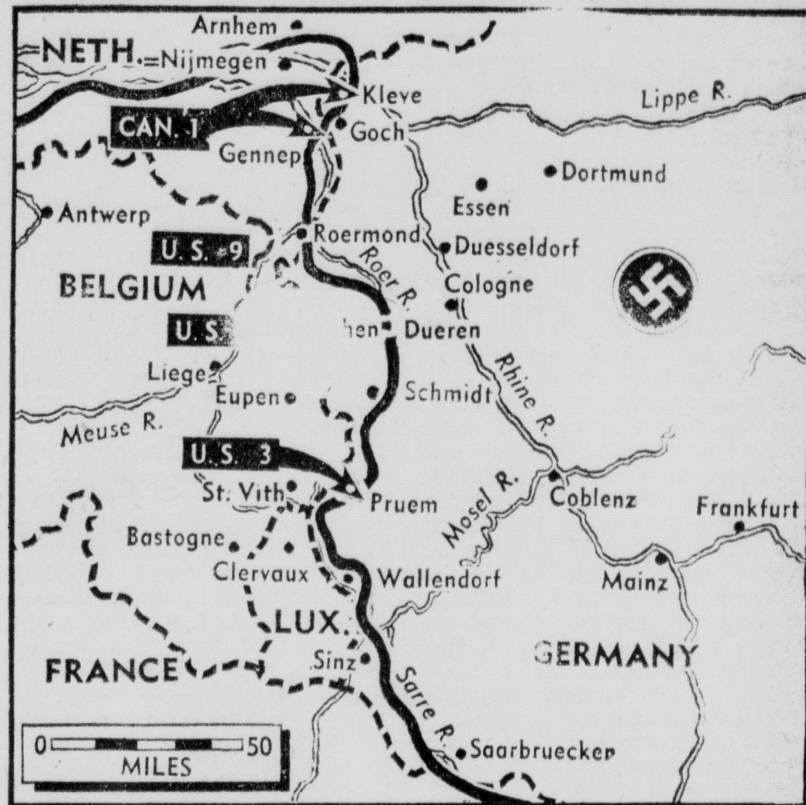

Nimitz said several weeks ago he had moved from Pearl Harbor to a "forward area" to keep up with the war warring westwardly moved Japan.

Guam, long mentioned as the site of the new headquarters, also is the base of Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay's 21st Bomber Command which dispatches Superfortresses to the Marianas islands to the Japanese homeland.

IMPERSONATING SOLDIER

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(P)—Barry Clyde Neil, of Butler, was ordered remanded to jail yesterday following a hearing before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of unlawfully wearing the cap, shirt and trousers of a U. S. army uniform.

Push Continues in Kleve Sector

Canadian and British troops in the Kleve-Goch sector of the Western Front continue their slow advance toward the Ruhr industrial valley of Germany, approaching within 2½ miles of the latter city. The U. S. 1st and 9th Armies are building up strength to push across the Roer River, swelled over its banks at points through partial demolition of dams by Germans. The U. S. 3rd Army is mopping up in the German stronghold of Pruem and extending bridgeheads over the Our and Sure Rivers to complete re-liberation of Luxembourg.

Report To Congress and the Nation on Big Three Meeting May Be Made By President

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—President Roosevelt may report directly to congress and the nation on the accomplishments and far-reaching significance of his meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

He is reported to be greatly cheered by the agreements reached on both military and political issues. Associates consider it likely that he will want to tell the American people himself, when he gets home, how these agreements can shorten the war and contribute to an Atlantic charter peace.

First hand information on the historic Big 3 gathering in the Crimea came, meanwhile, from James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, who arrived yesterday from the Crimea and met newsmen in late afternoon. Byrnes said he hoped that Mr. Roosevelt would make a radio broadcast or address congress.

He disclosed that the president had acted as chairman of the meeting and proposed two of the agreements—those on liberated areas and the Dumbarton Oaks voting issue—which were announced in today's communiqué.

The Dumbarton Oaks decision, like many others arrived at, remains temporarily secret, but it cleared the way for the April (Turn to Page Nine)

Auctioneer Denies Charges of Bribe

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Auctioneer Jacob Goldberg heatedly denounced as "a lie" today a 23-year-old story that he once offered a $25,000 bribe in an effort to buy Camp Funston in Kansas.

Speaking after Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) read a report by the quartermaster general's office to the assistant secretary of war dealing with the alleged offer, the white-haired auctioneer arose from his chair and declared: "No sir, that's a lie."

Intrepid "Baby Flattop" Is Lost

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Ommaney Bay, one of the intrepid "baby flattops" which defied a Japanese battleship force and saved the Leyte beachhead last October, has been sunk.

A rookie in the Pacific fleet, the escort aircraft carrier since last June has tallied this imposing record against the Japanese: A heavy cruiser and a troop transport sunk, four cruisers and four destroyers damaged, three battleships probably damaged, 16 planes shot down, other planes destroyed on the ground, troops wiped out with bombs and ground installations smashed.

She fought through three invasions—Palau, Leyte and Mindoro. In the Philippine area, the navy announced, she was sunk by enemy action. The minesweeper Long also was lost. The number of casualties was not disclosed; their next of kin have been notified. Both commanders were saved.

RESISTANCE AT MANILA IS NEARING END

Grim Doughboys Advancing Among Ruins Strewn With Bodies Loose Decisive Blow for Capital

68,000 ENEMY DEAD

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Manila's south Pasig district, where fierce fighting has been raging for days, began to fade today because of the stubborn resistance of Japanese entrenched along Taft avenue to the college ground near Harrison Park. This hotly contested area was still a mile from the waterfront. The Nipponese were known to be in many parts of the intervening terrain. Troops of the 27th Infantry Division captured the Masonic temple, on Taft avenue, yesterday. They did not report how much damage the edifice had sustained.

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Manila, Feb. 14.—(P)—Grim Yanks, advancing among ruins strewn with bodies of the foe, loosed the decisive blow for Manila today at Japanese cornered in a three square mile area near the Pasig river's mouth after other Doughboys on the southern outskirts seized Cavite naval base and two airfields.

"The end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced on the 12th day since his columns entered the city, which since has become the most devastated battlefield of the southwest Pacific campaign.

Doomed to be added to the more than 68,000 enemy casualties on Luzon island in five weeks, the Japanese survivors within Manila are massed behind thick walls of the centuries-old Intramuros, within government buildings and among docks.

Cavite, on the south shore of Manila Bay, fell Tuesday. The last Rising Sun warrior was killed at Nicholas airfield near the city's southern outskirts, ending five bitter days of struggle. Nielson Airfield, on the southeast, was cleared of the foe.

Most of the enemy's big guns within Manila have been silenced. Thousands of Japanese have died here, adding heavily to casualties (Turn to Page Nine)

Seven-Man Court Deciding Spy Case

New York, Feb. 14.—(P)—A seven-man military commission with power to impose the death penalty began considering today the fate of William C. Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel, accused as Nazi spies.

The prosecution declared in its summation that Colepaugh's testimony that he saw in his mission an opportunity to get away from the Nazis was a "brazen defense" and asked for a verdict of guilty on all three counts.

One charge—that of being spies in violating the 82nd article of war—carries a mandatory death penalty upon conviction by five members of the court. Testimony was completed yesterday.

BULLETINS

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—The London Polish government-in-exile, which repudiated the big three plan for Poland, called today on its armed forces to remain calm and carry on the fight alongside the soldiers of Britain, Canada, the United States and France, "to whom they are tied by blood shed in common battle."

Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The city council decided today to change the name of "Avenue De Tokyo" on the Seine's right bank to "Avenue De New York."

Chungking, Feb. 14.—(P)—China has accepted an invitation to be one of the sponsors of the United Nations conference opening at San Francisco on April 25 and has agreed on voting procedure in the peace security organ. (Turn to Page Nine)

Last Rites For Victims of Tragic Freehold Fire To Be Held Thursday At Lottsville

Funeral services in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson Scott and their son Dean, victims of the fire which destroyed their home on Wilson Hill, Freehold township, Monday night, will be held from the Lottsville Methodist church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. C. H. Foss officiating. Interment will be in the cemetery at Bear Lake.

During the investigation Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Sanford Secor, Pvt. C. W. Irwin of the state police and Coroner Ed Lowrey, assisted by F. A. Schoonover, funeral director of Sugar Grove, it was definitely established that parts of the three bodies had been recovered from the smoldering ruins. The head and torso of Mrs. Scott were intact, with part of her nose glasses still on her face. Only the torso of the son remained, while only part of the vertebrae with pelvic bones and a thigh bone of Mr. Scott were found. Dr. A. A. Grant, of Sugar Grove, was called in last evening to verify the examinations made previously by the officials. The pocketbook of Dean Scott was found intact in part of the trousers which still adhered to the torso.

There was no way to determine whether or not Mr. Scott or the son had met with violence before cremation, since the heads were both missing, and the remains so badly burned that it was impossible to identify any marks that may have been made before death.

Sheriff L. E. Linder and Pvt. Irwin left for the scene again this morning to continue the investigation and make a further search of the ruins of the home which were still smoldering Tuesday afternoon, which hampered the work of the investigators and volunteers.

The bodies were all found in one corner of the cellar, and it appeared that two of them may have been in bed. What was first believed to have been part of one of the victims, located near a vestibule was found upon closer examination to have been a quarter of beef which was known to have been in the home.

There appeared no doubt in the minds of the officers and those assisting them that holes in the skull of Mrs. Scott were from bullets fired by a revolver or rifle. The bones were too badly charred to establish from which side it was inflicted.

From the information given the officers it would appear that the fire started in the south side of the dwelling, opposite to the point where the bodies were found. The officers were informed that the (Turn to Page Nine)

Obstacles To Reunion Of Lewis In AFL

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14.—(P)—John L. Lewis' demand that his United Mine Workers be represented on the executive council if he returns to the AFL presented new, but presumably surmountable, obstacles to reunion today.

The council, meeting here now to consider Lewis' return to the American Federation of Labor, was said to be willing to give Lewis or his representative a place among them, but they wouldn't guarantee it.

Lewis or his agent would have to be elected a vice president first, they point out, and, while the council members wield considerable influence in an election, the outcome could not be guaranteed.

Dubinsky, like Lewis, left the AFL in the strife over formation of the CIO, but he returned to the federation in 1939. Dubinsky has never been restored to membership on the council.

Should a vacancy develop between conventions of the federation, Lewis could be appointed to fill it, however.

Hike In Debt Limit To Three Hundred Billion Is Forecast

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Congressional fiscal leaders bit their lips today as they conceded that the national debt limit will have to be boosted to $300,000,000 very shortly.

But they foresaw a chance to start whittling it down not later than two years after the war, provided, as one of them put it, "the people wake up."

Confronted with legislation to add another $40,000,000,000 stretch to the present debt limit of $260,000,000, the chairman and the ranking Republican member of the house appropriations committee joined in demanding sharp curtailment of all government spending.

The debt now stands at $234,000,000,000. A month before Pearl Harbor it was $55,000,000,000.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.), who heads the group through which all appropriation bills must pass, said it was "a matter of regret" that the debt limit must be boosted, as was proposed yesterday in a bill by Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the house ways and means committee.

Eleven-Way German Communications Line Between Rhine, Muse Objective of Drive By Gen. Crevar

GAINS SCORED BY THIRD

BULLETIN

Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Canadian First Army in a flanking threat to the Ruhr industrial valley advanced today within a mile and a half of heavily fortified Goch, beating down with cannon and planes the most determined German counterattacks yet mounted on the northern front. Massed artillery firing from the dark Reichswald forest roared incessantly at the seven crack German divisions opposing the Allied thrust between the Rhine and Meuse, through the northern end of the original Siegfried line.

Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Canadian First Army charged behind massed guns and flamethrowers today to within a mile and a half of Goch, 11-way German traffic center between the Rhine and Meuse, and outflanked it on the northeast by capturing Hasselt and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots and Britons of Gen. Henry Crerar's army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square mile Reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven strongly armored German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried line.

Canadian infantry closed up firmly to the line of the Our River, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Goch and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry crossing facing the industrial center of Emmerich.

Army's Need For Nurses Is Acute

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Undersecretary of War Patterson today urged prompt enactment of a nurse's draft law.

He said 400,000 soldiers already have been wounded and "the end of the fighting in Europe is not in sight."

In a surprise appearance before the house military committee Patterson urged the army's need for nurses "acute and immediate."

"Voluntary recruiting cannot be relied on to make good the shortage in time," he asserted.

Saying the army now is short 16,000 nurses in addition to needing 250 replacements each month, Patterson added: "It would take nine months to overcome the shortage and to make good the expected attrition. The wounded cannot wait that long."

Baker was taken into custody by state police yesterday as he was leaving a filling station in Kane.

Blizzard Left Heavy Snow In Its Wake Here

The blizzard which swept over this county yesterday left five and one half inches of snow in its wake in the borough and between six and seven inches out in the country. The highway department got out all of its available machinery and the main roads were kept open. Many of them are rough but are passable. On the rural roads much work has been done and most of them are passable. Crews were sent to Wilson Hill yesterday and the roadway there widened due to the large amount of driving to the Scott farm where fire destroyed the Scott farm house.

In the city work was done on the gutters in an endeavor to get them open and cinders were used on the streets at intersections.

The New York Central railroad is keeping up traffic but the snow yesterday on the first day the line was open for its entire length delayed freight trains. Freight No. 11 was tied up and many cars had to be set off on sidings and the northbound freight did not get out of here until 4 a. m. due to heavy snows at Torpedo and in that section. Fortunately the snow did not drift to any great extent. A snow plow is to be run over the line today.

Looks Backward—But Goes Forward

One of the weirdest-looking planes to come off U. S. designers' drawing boards is the Army's hitherto-secret "Ascender" fighter, pictured above during one of its first flights. Officially the XP-55, the plane appears to fly backwards because the 1275-hp Allison engine is behind the pilot, with the propeller in the rear. Wings, which have extreme backward rake, are also set near the rear, with rudders at the wingtips instead of on the tail. Elevator controls, also usually on the tail, are on the nose of this "tail-first" plane. Curtiss-Wright Corp., which developed the plane at St. Louis, says radical design gives it extra maneuverability, speed, and better visibility for pilot.

Splendid Talk Given Before Rotary Club

At its meeting Monday—Lincoln's Birthday—the Warren Rotary Club heard a most excellent talk, in fact, one of the best given in years before the club. It was by Dr. Earl Biddle, of the Warren State Hospital staff and was made under the title "Lincoln As I Knew Him".

The doctor spoke of the little known side of Lincoln's life; the sadness and misunderstanding of his early life; his great love affair and marriage; of the early death of his wife and his life long sorrow and that he did not dare carry a knife for fear of self destruction; of his strong belief in democracy and the great effort which he made to serve and save the Union as our great war president. Dr. Biddle spoke of his hatred of domination by force and his effort toward freeing the slaves.

A comparison was shown between Lincoln's democracy and the communistic state, which while socialistic in principle is actually as much a despotism as the early kingdoms against which history records a continual fight for freedom. Dr. Biddle spoke of planned economy which may people seem to feel is the next step in the development of our government and he warned that it is a step towards socialism and always ends in dictatorship even if only the planners have only the most sincere wish to do good and give every advantage to the people.

A planned economy or a dictatorship means a decrease in the standard of living, a loss of initiative; a feeling that as there is no need for anyone to work as long as society will take care of him.

The speaker suggested that those interested read "The Road to Serfdom" by Fred Heyneck. Dr. Biddle feels that the present feeling of letting someone else take the responsibility; of government by bureaus is not democracy. The speaker feels that more education, more religious training, more training in self control and the training of people to accept responsibility and take care of themselves is the only way for the continuation of our form of government.

In recognition of Boy Scout week Nick Mangus a second class Scout from the Presbyterian Church Troop, spoke briefly on what Scouting had done for him.

Round Table Is Scheduled For Thursday

Lewis Crippen, Scoutmaster of Troop No. 31 sponsored by the Youngsville United Brethren church, will be the speaker at the Scouters Round Table meeting when the group assembles in Room 201 Warren National Bank building on Thursday evening at 7:45 p. m. It was learned today from Leo L. Gleese, Scout Commissioner, Mr. Crippen's subject will be "A Balanced Troop Meeting Program".

Other Scout leaders who will share in the presentation of the program will be Robert Z. Smith, Chairman of Starbrick Troop No. 3 who will have charge of the gathering time activity; Plummer Mouton of Troop No. 31 Youngsville will give a review of the material in the latest issue of the Scouting magazine.

YESTERDAY: O'Shane determines to tell Joan Curran the truth and surprises Fleecon, foreman of the spread, with Joan. While holding him at bay he tells her the whole story of the death of her brother. His eyes stray for a moment and Fleecon dives out of the window, calling on his gunmen to kill O'Shane. The redhead manages to escape and decides to ride into Big River and force Si Wacker to talk.

Chapter 10

O'SHANE hit for the upper end of the valley. It should not be difficult, he figured, to hide out in this region until darkness fell and he could drift into town for a showdown with Silas Wacker.

Emerging upon a boulder-studded flat, he searched the valley below for signs of pursuit. As his glasses pivoted round, the redhead stiffened to alert attention. The sun flashed upon metal. Quickly adjusting the focus, he picked out the figures of two men, afoot, to his right. One bent over a transit, set upon a tripod; another, several hundred yards distant, held a surveying rod erect.

Thoughtfully, O'Shane stowed away the glasses and shook his pony into a lope, angling down towards the valley floor. What were surveyors doing in Plute Valley? Who had hired them? Was some new scheme afoot?

Then, understanding burst upon him. A picture of the great burnt out basin that was Big Valley flashed through his mind, thousands of acres of level land that lacked just one thing—water. Satisfy the desert's thirst and it proves fertile beyond belief. In the ravine below him, on Double O range, was a natural dam site, built by nature. Bottle up the waters here and Plute Valley would become a natural reservoir. With such irrigation, the barren lands of Big Valley, at the end of steel, would be worth a hundred, a thousand times, their present value. The possibilities staggered him. With control of the water and options on a sizeable part of the valley lands, Wacker was gambling for millions. No wonder he had not stopped at murder! He only needed to take one more step to put the plan into operation—grab the Double O—the site of the dam and reservoir.

SHADOWS of the dying day raced across the valley when O'Shane slipped past adobe and tin-roofed shacks into Big River. Circling the main street, he dismounted outside La Bonita. For a moment the redhead hesitated, disturbed by a vague premonition. Then, impatiently, he hitched up his belt, tugged his hat down over his eyes and stepped toward the entrance.

A faded blonde threw herself into a chair beside him. "Buy me a drink, puncher!" she demanded shrilly.

"Sure thing," grinned O'Shane, "what'll it be?" "Bourbon."

The redhead poured her a stiff peg. The girl tossed it off. "This joint gives me the willies. Fill it up again, pal!"

"Why don't you pull out?" queried O'Shane idly, his eyes combing the room.

"Yeah, and then what? I got to eat!" Her sharp eyes ran over his roughhewn features. "Say, ain't I seen you before, with Jules Fleecon?"

"Jules a friend of yours?" Her lips twisted angrily. "He was, 'til he started chasing that Double O hussy."

"A swell spread goes with her," "You said it! Well, Jules ain't ditching me like an old dress."

"Silas around?"

The blonde shrank back from the menace in his eyes. His grip loosened. With a quick twist, she freed her arm and slipped into the crowd.

"Doggone my luck!" murmured the redhead in disgust. "I got to go places fast, before she spreads the news."

He rose, edged through the throng towards Wacker's office, in the rear. Right hand hovering over his iron, he turned the door handle and pushed. It was locked. Apparently unobserved in the medley of humans and jangled discord of sound, the blonde swung by in the arms of a lanky puncher. Her eyes locked with O'Shane's. He read derision in them. Again that looming premonition telegraphed haste. Jaw set, he threw one hundred and sixty-five pounds of compact bone and muscle at the door. The wood around the jamb splintered. He kicked the door open and entered.

A door in the rear was ajar. With quick strides he crossed the room and flung it open—a rifle cracked in the darkness and a bullet zipped into the doorknob, not a foot from his head. Wriggling backwards, the redhead reached out and grasped the door. The sharp-eyed blonde under his breath. Only one avenue of escape remained—through the very much crowded dance hall.

Coolly, he strolled out on to the dance floor. His gun hand swinging close to his side, O'Shane wormed his way through the thickly packed throng. A dozen yards from the door he stopped dead in his tracks. Bill Parker, town marshal, was guarding the exit! O'Shane saw recognition flicker in the Marshal's eyes as he sighted his quarry. Unhurriedly, the officer shouldered his way through the throng. Like a bunch of stampeding steers, the dancers broke away from O'Shane's vicinity.

Six paces distant, the Marshal stopped. "I'm arresting you for the murder of Tom Curran, O'Shane."

RECOGNIZING VETERANS

We have been told of an honorably discharged and thrice-decorated soldier who, shortly after returning to civilian life in his home town, put on his uniform again. A friend met him on the street and asked him if he had been called back into the service.

"No," the soldier said, "I put my uniform back on because I got so tired of having people ask me why a young man my age wasn't in the army."

That young soldier was issued an honorable discharge pin when he left the service. Presumably he wore it on the lapel of his civilian suit. And presumably the people who asked him why he wasn't in uniform had no idea of what the pin signified, if they saw it at all.

So perhaps it is time that all of us started taking notice. The discharge pin is plastic, and the insignia is a gold-plated eagle within a circle, with the wings extending beyond the circle's edge.

These pins are given to all honorably discharged men and women when they leave the service. They should be worn by the thousands who have already returned to civilian life, and by the millions who will follow them. And they ought to be recognized by all who see them. They are proud distinctions, and they should earn their wearers special consideration and freedom from hard looks and tiresome questions.

Our congratulations to Mrs. Sarah McCormick, who today is observing her 104th birthday anniversary at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Rowland. Having resided in the vicinity of Youngsville for nearly eighty years, Mrs. McCormick ranks as the county's "grand old lady."

We could do without that five or six inches of snow that fell over the county Tuesday, adding to the difficulties of the highway crews that have been doing a grand job in keeping the main roads open.

Start the Lenten season right—go to church tonight.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, Rector Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church

ASH WEDNESDAY AND LENT

The name of this day derives from an ancient custom. The people knelt at the altar rail, and the priest, dipping his thumb in ashes, marked the forehead of each person with a small cross. As he did so, he said to each: "Remember, O Man, that thou art but dust, and unto dust thou shalt return." In some churches this practice still continues. It gives one an unpleasant feeling to be so vividly reminded that one day we must die.

But there is something glorious about it, too. It brings home to us the fact that the religion of Christ is realistic, and not afraid to face anything—even the grim things like sin and sorrow and death.

From earliest times, the Christian Church has appointed special times for self-examination, fasting and prayer. The Season of Lent is one of those ancient Christian seasons. Thus we have in Ash Wednesday and the season following a reminder of the shortness and uncertainty of life, a period of spiritual housecleaning and spiritual refreshment which, if combined, will help us to achieve such a soundly ordered life as will assure us not only of a good Lent, but of a definite advance in our citizenship in the Kingdom of God. Indeed, the forty days of Lent provide a unique opportunity for spiritual growth and enlightenment. The experience of the centuries has shown this. Many Christians, who by tradition have been inclined to ignore such a season, are now turning to a greater use of it. It would be wise for us who have always observed it to make sure that we do not miss its real purposes and opportunities.

One of the chief purposes of Lent is that we shall seek to learn to practice Christian self-discipline. In a world that is fast drifting toward totalitarian ideals of government, Christian people may be glad that we may still learn what freedom in the spiritual life means. The church has no desire to take from us the solemn duty of deciding how far we will devote ourselves to seeking God's will. It is the duty of the church to teach us God's way of life, and to use all reasonable means to induce us to follow it. It will lead us in that way, if we still have wisdom to follow it.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Your capital in wartime:

The War Department has finally bowed to congressional criticism so that under only exceptional circumstances will officers under 28 be assigned to the Washington area. In addition, the department has a thorough study of the whole officer detail here under way and all who are physically able and not doing specific jobs for which they are particularly fitted will be assigned to combat or training duty.

REP. JENNINGS RANDOLPH, ret. Democrat from West Virginia, has introduced a bill to establish a national university devoted entirely to training men and women for service in federal, state and local governments. It isn't the first time the idea has been broached but it is being given more attention now than ever before. Administration of the war and its many ramifications has brought home to the people generally the shortcomings of government employees more forcefully than at any time in recent decades.

WASHINGTON this day reminds local columnist Jerry Klutz of the story about the dying patriarch who roused from a coma and called his wife, five sons and two daughters. When each had answered and in turn assured the old man that they were by his side, he rose up in bed, horrified, and stammered: "Then who's tending the store?" That's about the way it has been around here lately. On Capitol Hill they tell about an administration senator dashing down to the White House to get a decision on some important legislation now in debate. He met a colleague coming out. The latter shook his head: "It's no use. The President 'can't be seen' (the censorship way of guarding his whereabouts.) Harry Hopkins is on his way from Rome to somewhere. Jimmy Byrnes is 'out of the country.' And even Secretary of State Stettinius is 'unavailable and will be for some days.'"

After careful check, it was determined that Vice President Harry Truman, Henry Wallace, Jesse Jones, Mrs. Roosevelt and Fala still were in town, but there wasn't any assurance that one or all might not depart any moment. And that still doesn't answer the question about who's running the store.

UNDER orders of the Office of Defense Transportation, conventions have dropped to their lowest level in years, but ODT privately reports that the applications for holding conventions are staggering. The latest large group to call off its annual convention was the National Tuberculosis Association, which had scheduled a June session of 1,700 delegates in Buffalo, N. Y., in June. But in the first few weeks after the order, ODT received 110 applications from groups who insisted their annual meetings were absolutely necessary. After investigation, ODT okayed two, turned down 108.

INTERIOR SECRETARY HAROLD L. ICKES is in another row with Congress, but this one probably won't make headlines. Rep. Edward Hebert (D-La.) had introduced a bill to take Ickes' private police force away from him. He wants to merge the U. S. park police with the metropolitan police force. Ickes says his police force, which patrols the District of Columbia's miles of parks (15 per cent of the capital's total area) is more efficient than the District coppers.

Hollywood Gossip

By JACK O'BRIAN

AP Drama Editor

"Guest In The House," a Hunt Stromberg production starring Anne Baxter, with Ralph Bellamy, Aline MacMahon, Scott McKay and Marie McDonald.

THE Broadway original of "Guest In The House" ran 45 weeks. It was a notable piece of legitimate theater staging, and in many respects it is likewise a notable film. Hunt Stromberg, who produced it, is a craftsman worthy of a slightly better result, however. There should have been some lift given to the play in its adaptation to the screen. Its faults are in the static feeling it acquires as it progresses.

The "Guest in the House" is a young girl, beautiful but suffering from a bad heart condition. She is brought to a happy home to rest and make the best of her condition. Her cardiac trouble, however, is not as serious as her mental state, as it turns out, for she is a cruel, scheming and wily young lady who soon has her ruining imprint on everyone in the place.

Anne Baxter plays this twisted youngster with a great deal of feeling and the rest of the cast are similarly well equipped for the job. Ralph Bellamy is excellent as the head of the ill-starred household and Ruth Warwick as his wife is even better.

HUNT STROMBERG, who produced this United Artists Release, is a gentleman with a redoubtable cinematic background. A noted innovator, he was the first Hollywood producer to conceive the feature series idea (Our Dancing Daughters, Our Blushing Brides and Our Modern Maidens). He tried a few daring experiments, such as "White Shadows In The South Seas" and "Eskimo." "Mayfair" brought Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald together.

His "The Great Ziegfeld" won academy awards. He gave movie mysteries a sense of humor with "The Thin Man" and started Hollywood in pursuit of a new sort of detective, with tongue in cheek and a cocktail in hand.

ONE of the most daringly-presented stories ever put on celluloid was "Night Must Fall," which also served as Robert Montgomery's escape from film flippancies and proved that he is a fine actor. Some of Stromberg's other movie accomplishments were "Ah Wilderness," "Idiot's Delight," "The Women," "Pride and Prejudice" and "Lady of Burlesque."

In "Guest In The House" Stromberg again is tossing tradition out the window by providing the subject of paranoia with its first respectful dramatic screen treatment. It is a highly interesting film, and the major complaint is its massively slow movement. Even so, it is by no means a poor picture. And if a screen fan can sit through seemingly endless establishment of plot and mood, it may even be hugely worth while.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror:

This winter one could scarcely pick up a paper without running across an item about loss of life and irreparable property from overheated heating appliances.

Yet all fall and winter newspapers and magazines have carried advertisements of thermostats for temperature control, our Government and gas companies have urged their use, no priorities are required to obtain them and the cost has been reduced on them so they are within the reach of all.

They are obtainable for a few dollars for any type of heating appliance from the old parlor stove to the automatic stoker furnace, and the cost is saved in a few months in fuel alone, to say nothing of the saving of lives and property and the distress and expense of sickness from uncontrolled heating in the home.

Those who will squeeze a quarter until the eagle screams, think nothing of shovelling coal in the stove and wasting heat or paying drug and doctor bills before they will invest a few dollars for comfort and even a lifesaving device.

It seems insurance companies and fire inspectors should make it mandatory for all to equip their heating appliances with these devices, not only to protect themselves but their neighbors from disastrous fires.

As long as human nature is as it is, people will continue to shovel fuel into the stove and go to a bingo game, the neighbors or to bed and forget to turn off the draft—so why not make it compulsory for all to install these safety devices?

The writer lights the pilot light in his heating appliance in the fall and doesn't touch a thing until it is turned off in the late spring. It has paid for itself many times over in fuel saved to say nothing of sickness averted. (And it is set five degrees lower this year than heretofore.)

When, oh, when will people get wise to the fact they can spend a few dollars and save many of them, or maybe lives and property ? ? ?

A Safety First.

YESTERDAY: O'Shane, looking for the shakedown with Wacker, but a blonde dancer gives the alarm. Trying to force his way out the back door of the dance hall, he is met by gunfire. Backtracking, he starts to go out the front door when his way is blocked by the Marshal, who orders him to surrender for the murder of Tom Curran.

"You ain't arresting me, Parker," his voice was bleak.

"I'm accusing," said Parker.

"Go for your gun!" grated O'Shane. As he spoke his hand slapped leather.

The Marshal's hand swept down, and up. Before he could thumb the hammer, a streak of fire spurted from the redhead's side. Parker's brawny arm jerked back and his 45 clattered to the floor.

O'Shane felt the swinging door at his back. Focused by a hundred eyes, he eased through, backwards—and felt the harsh pressure of a gun barrel between his shoulder blades.

"Drop that iron!" came Wacker's curt command.

"Stretch!" O'Shane's arms reluctantly moved ceilingwards; the dance hall owner adroitly twisted the 45 out of his hand.

Tension relaxed, sound cascaded from the strong shoulders of the Marshal back through the crowd. "March!" he grunted to O'Shane.

"I'll trail along," volunteered Wacker. "This Jasper is as slippery as a rattler."

Silas dogging their footsteps, they clumped along th. plank walk in the direction of the jail.

O'Shane, as their footsteps echoed hollowly on the plank, "but that coyote," his head jerked back, "framed me for Curran's murder. I was hunting him, figured I'd hammer the truth out of the stinker."

"Forget it!" returned Parker. "You could have cut me down. Reckon I don't know that?"

Restlessly pacing the length of his prison the redhead reviewed the events of the past few days. Now, he was discredited in Joan Curran's eyes, helpless to combat Wacker's scheme to obtain possession of the Double O, and branded as a cowardly killer. His gamble for peace and security had placed him in the shadow of a noose.

DURING the fracas at La Bonita, Colonel Thornton and Viola rode into town. He swung off his chestnut gelding before the post office and Viola dismounted beside him.

"You go ahead and read your mail, Dad. I'll be back soon," she said.

Viola sauntered casually past the Marshal's office and glanced inside. At Parker's spur-scarred desk sat a leathery-faced old-timer, Baldy, the Marshal's deputy.

"Where's Bill?"

"Up at Doc's gettin' fixed up. Rip-roaring galoot, name of O'Shane, plugged him."

"Not at all," returned the Marshal forcibly. "O'Shane had been a killer. I'd be done for right now. I forced his hand."

"I want to hear all about it," demanded Viola.

"Yeah!"

"Yeah! Mr. Know-all! And now you'll neck!"

"Go ahead!" grunted Parker and listened in polite silence as she repeated O'Shane's story.

The Marshal shook his head doubtfully. "Could be, but I'll gamble my badge he'll swing."

"Let me see him. Bill."

"Okay," he grunted.

WHEN O'Shane saw her, he gasped in astonishment. "What are you doing in this hole, Miss Thornton?"

"Oh, I came to cheer you up," she said, looking up at the window.

"Look, I can see the stars!" she exclaimed with delight. But her eyes were on O'Shane and her right eye dropped significantly.

"They can be so helpful."

After she left, O'Shane, puzzled, sat on the bed. Study the stars? Well, he'd watch those stars, if he sat there until sunup.

For an hour O'Shane figured he must have watched that window, but nothing happened. Then unexpectedly, a package sailed right through the aperture.

Swiftly he unwrapped a silk bandanna and beheld a dainty 32. Breathing a prayer of thankfulness to the resourceful Viola, he hefted the little gun.

Baldy came along to see how he was doing. His head snapped back as the muzzle of the .32 protruded, not six inches from his bony nose.

"Open this door or I'll scatter your brains, pronto," rasped O'Shane.

Gaping at the gun barrel, the deputy slowly opened the door.

Lifting Baldy's 45 he slipped the little 32 into his waistband and forced the deputy into the cell. Then slipping down to the empty office, he picked up his gunbelt hung on the wall, tossed Baldy's iron into the wastebasket and stepped out on the plank walk.

Square jaw set, O'Shane stepped briskly in the direction of the dance hall. He had a score to settle with Silas Wacker.

Lions Here Talk On Life Of Lincoln

On Tuesday Sidney D. Blackman, prominent local attorney, spoke at the Lions Club meeting on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln." Mr. Blackman is known by many to be a very good speaker and he is especially well qualified to speak on the life of Lincoln. His father was a sergeant in the 69th Central Postal Directory of the Potomac and met and was personally with Lincoln while serving in same. The speaker did not deal very much with the already well known historical facts regarding the life of "The Great Emancipator" but rather discussed him as a man, his physical and mental aspects, etc. Mr. Blackman traced the migration of the family from Great Britain to this country in 1637 and in the east part of the country toward. He also told of the boyhood of Lincoln and how by much work and self-education the later became a famous lawyer. Lincoln's great desire in life was to be just, honest, charitable, and kind. We all know how well he succeeded in this as history contains many illustrations of his greatness. A poem which was very appropriate, "The Man of the People," Edwin Markheim was read in connection with the talk. All who heard Mr. Blackman commended the many interesting facts which were given and how evident was that much time and effort had been expended in the preparation of the talk. Guests who were present at the meeting included Technical Sergeant Robert Dietrich of the United States Marines and Richard Mumacher, Personnel Director of the Pennsylvania Electric Corporation, Warren.

received an A.P.O. address for their son, Corporal James E. Warner, "Chicken".

Mrs. W. C. Hoyer is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. F. J. Titus, now living at 958 West 10th St., Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. James McMichael of Marienville were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Silvis, Sunday afternoon.

Ralph Bowley S. L. C. started for San Francisco last Thursday evening after spending his furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Bertina Bowley. He spent Thursday night visiting his sister, Miss Helen Bowley in Bradford and went on to Salamanca, N. Y., where he was joined by a sailor friend, who accompanied him to the west coast. Miss Helen Bowley also spent last week visiting her mother.

Miss Helen Christian entertained a number of her friends at her home, Saturday afternoon, to help her celebrate her birthday. They spent the afternoon with sports and games, at the close of which, Mrs. Christian served refreshments. Helen received nice gifts in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. John Silvis have received word that their oldest son, Delbert, serving with the 112th Infantry along the western front in Europe, has been missing in action since Jan. 6th. Sgt. Silvis was previously wounded and had returned to action. Both his wife, who lives in Meadville and his parents have received letters from him from hospital along the front, in the last few days where he was being treated for nervous shock, so there is hope that the government report may be a mistake. Mr. and Mrs. Silvis have one other son, Glenn, in service, with the navy in the South Pacific.

Impressive memorial services honoring Sgt. Harold G. Miller, who was killed in action in France, October 16, were held in the Sheffield Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Rev. Russell officiated bringing a message of comfort to his family. The quartet of the church sang three numbers and beautiful flowers were placed about the altar by friends. Relatives from out of town who attended the services were Mr. and Mrs. Myron Miller, Mrs. Clarabelle Miller and family and Miss Florence Miller, all of Warren.

Of interest to residents of Barnes is the marriage of Miss Shirley Askey Hutchison and George Hunt, both of Erie, which was solemnized in St. Paul's church in Erie at high noon, Saturday. The bride was Miss Doris Longnecker and S. Sgt. Floyd Carl was Mr. Hunt's best man. After a short honeymoon in New York, they will reside in Erie. Miss Shirley spent most of her girlhood with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fridley, here in Barnes and received her education in the township schools. Mr. Hunt has recently been discharged from the navy, having spent 27 months in active duty in the South Pacific.

Barnes, Feb. —The Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church is holding an all day's meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Lyle, Thursday. A turkey dinner will be served at noon and the work for the day will be quilting. All ladies of the community are invited to help with this work. In the afternoon, the Adult Bible Class will hold its monthly business meeting and Rev. Russell will give another Bible Study.

Novel Features in the Current House-of-the-Month Display

Persons planning to build a home after the war are showing a growing interest in the designs offered each month through the Warren National Bank "House of the Month Club." The Newton, February House of the Month, is pictured in an ad in today's Times-Mirror. It embodies all the improvements that modern people can hope for in many years to come. Though of basic colonial design, its interior embraces a great many features to make it a comfortable and practical dwelling. The floor plan is well designed and the rooms are of good size. The living room, 13'4" x 19'2", has a fireplace along the inner wall and ample wall space for various arrangements of furniture. The porch shown off the living room, may be built to the right or to the rear of the dining room.

To permit the maximum of free wall space, modern sliding doors are featured in all closets, between the kitchen and dining room, and also to shield the living room from the service foyer. The bath is quite an innovation for a small house. In addition to the complete bath, there is adjacent an extra toilet room. Many a home builder will appreciate the convenience of this feature.

Like all houses shown, The Newton is designed to comply with the standards and construction requirements of the F.H.A. Complete floor plans and larger pictures form an interesting display in the Bank's lobby.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Today is Ash Wednesday as well as Valentine's Day. The Lenten season is ushered in and the badge of Ash Wednesday is the little dab of ashes (burned palm) soon on the foreheads of many. They are distributed by the Catholic and Episcopal churches with the prayer that goes "Remember man, thou shalt return." And the postoffice knows it is Valentine's Day as hundreds of valentines are being handed through the postoffice today and every mail carrier has many of the sweet remembrances. The old fashioned funny ones are sadly missing and try as we would we couldn't find a comic one to send Mush Mathis even if we did promise him one. Believe it or not the Democratic National committee has selected Friday April 13th (April) as the date for the annual $100 a-plate Jefferson Day dinner in Washington. Ten boys from St. Joseph's Parish have made the supreme sacrifice for their country. "Jiggs" Sullivan who was the 10th had his picture in the Lake Shore Visitor in its last issue.

"Dick" Updegraff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Updegraff, 405 Conewago avenue is one of the town's ardent bird lovers. He takes frequent hikes along the Conewago observing the birds and their habits and has made a number of excellent photographic studies of nests, etc. For a time this 12 year old had visions of being a taxidermist but discovered the work was a trifle "smelly" so gave up the idea and is now contented to mount watch over the feathered friends. Maybe another Audubon, lets hope. What are you giving up for Lent? Let's hope it's something that will provide you money for the Red Cross War Fund.

Today is St. Valentine's Day. Our Dad who used to read St. Nicholas, a magazine for children to us gave the first insight into the observance of the day. He read from the magazine all about St. Valentine and the picture of the goodly old Saint was one of the illustrations in Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad". The picture showed the old boy all sticking full of arrows. Later the discovery was made that the arrows might have been fired by Dan Cupid. St. Valentine was a Christian martyr of the 3rd Century, whose good deeds were done near Rome, perhaps on the very soil where American troops are now quartered. The secular application is obscure; it is said he was a protector of birds, and that, about Feb. 14, in Italy, birds begin to woo their mates, thus symbolizing the season of romance. Named, for a saint, dedicated to love, the day has been mocked by comic caricatures or marked with lacey ruffled hearts and arrows. Yet many take it seriously, sincerely. The date is permanent. Not even a President ever ordered it changed.

"Doc" Chapman and the other Senators at Harrisburg now have the bill before them to extend the inspection date for automobiles. It has been passed by the house and is now up to the senate. Chewin tobacco is getting scarce and the old time plug is having its innings. Remember when we saved tobacco tags? Those tin adornments on "Old Honesty", "Sweet Apple", "Anchor" and others. Some little blizzard yesterday adding five and one-half inches of snow to what we had. Ah me, those operations in December certainly save a lot of snow shoveling. Just one thing not included in the bill for the cutting and being babied by those good looking hospital nurses and aides. Erie schools have just received the famous Yale assemblage of historical teaching aides. Movies, pictures and over 3000 volumes of historical lore. Judging by some of the historical knowledge possessed by local High School pupils a couple of outfits would do well in this city.

Plans for a fitting observance of the 100th anniversary of the first Swedish settlement in this part of the country, at Chandler's Valley, Pa., back in 1846, to be held at that village and in Jamestown as well two years hence, are developing rapidly. The stone to be erected in a little park near the Chandler's Valley Lutheran church is ready to be placed in position, the cement base is completed and the grounds have been filled and graded. Next spring the shrubbery and other ornaments will be set out and if nothing prevents, the whole project will be in order a year before the Centennial program takes place. The membership of the Chandler's Valley-Jamestown Centennial Commission consisting of individuals and organizations both locally and elsewhere is increasing. Only recently such as the following have joined: Warren Chamber of Commerce, Warren County Historical Association, Swedish Colonial Society of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The commission is also a member of the Swedish Central Committee of Jamestown. Several individuals in Warren County are also members.

Business Women Hear Fine Address By Mr. Young; Increase Membership To 60

Three new members, Marjorie Barrett, Mary Deener and Margaret Gesin, were voted by members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club last evening to bring the total membership to 60.

There were 50 members and guests present for the February dinner-meeting, held in the YWCA activities building. Patriotic decorations were carried out with grouped flags and single flags on gold standards, red and blue candles and white star place cards. Continuing the theme, Viola Lindmark directed the singing of several patriotic songs.

Guest speaker was Robert R. Young, of the high school, whose remarks dealt with several phases of history leading up to the Dumbarton Oaks plan and the necessity for adoption of some sort of peace and reconstruction plan that will have sufficient teeth for enforcement.

The study of history, he said, should not be the mere memorizing of a string of dates but application of the events as they affect the lives of people and future events. He pointed out from our own American history development of the two great ideals of self-government and union, comparing the early Articles of Confederation to the League of Nations, with their weaknesses and impossibilities for enforcement, and stressing necessity for reaching some such world plan as has been effected in our own country's constitutional government and Bill of Rights. He referred also to the "Four Square Plan" outlined by Secretary of State Stettinius and condensed in the current issue of Reader's Digest. He concluded by saying it is not nearly so important now to consider what we have or have not done but what are we going to do.

In the business meeting which followed Mr. Young's address, president Louise Nelly called for reports from Violet Peterson, Inez Leake and Margaret Holmes. The sum of $5 was voted to the March of Dimes, the annual donation of $20 to the Red Cross and a gift of $10 to the YWCA for its courtesies. Emma Atkins, Eunice Alexander and May Belle Bairstow were appointed to consider a proposed club project and report at the next meeting, and members accepted with regret the resignation of Elizabeth Lopez as corresponding secretary.

Golda Hill, who is a member of Beta faculty and chairman of District One, paid her official visit to the local club, pointing out the ways in which club membership will aid business women in becoming better "builders in the days of reconstruction to come". She spoke also of the district meeting to be held in Youngsville April 14, when Helen Remler, of Meadville, state vice president, will be the principal speaker, and of the possibilities for a state convention in Meadville in June.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:—
I've enjoyed your letters that appear in the paper every night and so decided to write to you myself.

A lot is being said about the change that takes place in our boys who are coming home on 30 day furloughs, but nothing seems to be said about the change in the folks back home, for instance the people aren't very hospitable to our boys home on furlough. They refuse to pick them up in their cars when the boys are standing along the road waiting for some one to be good enough to take them a little ways. Some of the boys I've talked to say as many as 30 cars will pass them up. Another waited for 2½ hours.

Now I ask you is that a nice way to treat these grand lads who have been overseas fighting so the people in this country can keep their cars and other things.

A lot of gas is being used by people running after butter and cigarettes so why can't the people of Warren and vicinity be kinder and give a little lift once in a while to the boys who have been eating bully beef and hard biscuits and living in fox holes.

The boys are so appreciative, so pick them up once and find for yourself they really don't bite.

A Disgusted Sister of a boy in the service.

A Baby's Start In Life

By Mullen Drug Co.

A baby starts in life with an amount of energy and resistance to disease given to it by its parents. Then from day to day additions in the form of food, air and sunshine are made.

But there are constant dangers to the baby's welfare. Fortunately, these can be offset by letting your doctor immunize the child against prevalent and rare diseases of childhood . . . polio, for instance.

Wicht Announces Dates For State Basketball Playoffs

Behind the Lines

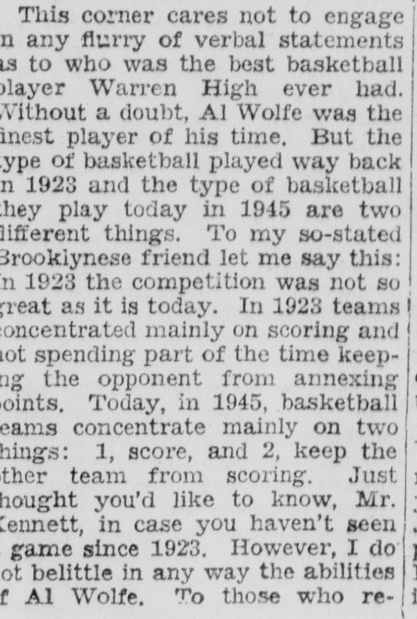

Gale Bishop, the Fort Lewis whiz in the Pacific Northwest area, scored but nine points last week, but it boosted his total past the 700-point mark and he still remains in the No. 1 position in the nation's service basketball scoring race. The Fort Lewis private rimmed 293 field goals and 115 charity tosses for an aggregate of 701 points, 206 more than the 495 scored by Ermer Robinson, of Fort Warren, who continued in the runner-up spot. Bob Kinney, a former Rice star now at Camp Bradford in Virginia, bobbed up in third place, while another newcomer, Reece Tatum, of the Lincoln, Neb., Army Air Base, took over the fourth place berth.

Byron Nelson, just $1,333.33 richer for his sensational win in the New Orleans Open, headed for the Mississippi gulf coast today, where he hopes to continue his bid for a new all-time record in the $5,000 Gulfport Open. The New Orleans victory made it No. 4 in his winner tour. Harold "Jug" McSpaden, who lost the New Orleans tourney by just five strokes, continues in the second place spot for bond earnings, although he has yet to cop a championship.

A dusky welterweight boxer who idolizes another welterweight so much that he even adopted the latter's ring nickname, will meet that hero tonight in Chicago in a 10-round bout of championship possibilities. The two are Ray "Sugar" Robinson of New York and George "Sugar" Costner, Cincinnati Negro. Both fighters are discharged veterans of World War II. Costner began his fistic career about three years ago and had a partially successful campaign before entering service, but since his discharge from the army has won 23 straight fights by knockouts. Not bad, and keep an eye on that boy.

Received a letter from Dean Nelson, the former high school basketball star, now with Westminster College, telling of the team's recent travels, and losses. The Titan squad took on Hamline University and Mr. Howie Schultz in Boston last Thursday. Nelson says that all the talk about Schultz is no kidding—he rates as the best. The Hamline crew dumped the Westminster boys and, says Dean, "every one of their boys is a wonderful shot. You have to stick with them every minute, or else." Nelson was high scorer in the Hamline-Titan tilt, racking up 11 markers to his credit, plus playing all but the last two minutes of the game. Not bad for a frosh. Nelson goes on to tell of their game in Buffalo last Saturday against Bowling Green. The Titans took it on the chin again and also lost all chances of receiving and tournament bids. Nelson paced the Titans against the 6'11" giant, Don Otten, and Bowling Green, with 16 points before going out of the game at halftime via the personal foul route.

This corner cares not to engage in any flurry of verbal statements as to who was the best basketball player Warren High ever had. Without a doubt, Al Wolfe was the finest player of his time. But the type of basketball played way back in 1923 and the type of basketball they play today in 1945 are two different things. To my so-called Brooklynesse friend let me say this: In 1923 the competition was not so great as it is today. In 1923 teams concentrated mainly on scoring and not spending part of the time keeping the opponent from annexing points. Today, in 1945, basketball teams concentrate mainly on two things: 1, score, and 2, keep the other team from scoring. Just thought you'd like to know, Mr. Kennett, in case you haven't seen a game since 1923. However, I do not belittle in any way the abilities of Al Wolfe. To those who remember him, he was the best. But, just the same, I still like to watch Joe Scalise in action. Why? I've played ball with him for five years. I know his abilities, too. Be seeing you, Fritz.

PETE GRAY
THE BROWNS ONE-ARMED OUTFIELDER DROPPED ONLY ONE FLY BALL LAST SEASON...

By TOM SHRIVER
Harrisburg, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, said today plans were completed for the annual state-wide scholastic basketball championships, which this year will include both class A and B schools.

The Class A competition will get under way March 13 and end March 24, with Class B schools swinging into action March 14 and concluding March 24.

"This is our first year for a Class B tournament," said Wicht, "and we plan to conduct it along the same lines that proved successful in Class A for many years. In both classes we must wait until the finalists are determined before picking a site for the championship games."

One change has been made in Class A tournament as a result of the Class B event. There will be no District 12 representative in Class A. All schools in that area being listed as Class B schools with an enrollment of fewer than 400 students in grades nine to twelve.

As in former years the state will be divided into districts with Districts 1, 2, 3, 4 and 11 as eastern representatives in Class A and 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 competing for the western title.

The Class A schedule follows:
Eastern Sector:
March 13—District 8 vs. District 11, with District 1 receiving a bye.

District 2 vs. District 4.
Western Sector:
District 9 vs. District 10 with District 8 receiving a bye.

District 5 vs. District 7 with District 6 receiving a bye.
March 17—Winner of 3 vs. 11 meeting District 1.

Western Sector:
Winner of 9 vs. 10 meeting District 8; winner of 5 vs. 7 meeting District 6.

March 20—Eastern Finals.
Western Finals.

March 24, State Finals.
The Class B competition will be confined to nine districts this year, with 7, 8 and 11 not participating. Eastern Districts consist of 1, 2, 3, 4 and 12, while in the west 5, 6, 9 and 10 will compete.

The Class B schedule follows:
Eastern Sector:
March 14—District 1 vs. District 3.

District 2 vs. District 12 with District 4 receiving a bye.
Western Sector:
District 5 vs. District 6.
District 9 vs. District 10.

March 17—Winner of 2 vs. 12 meeting District 4.

March 21—Eastern Finals.

NFO Girls Crew Tangles With Struthers Wells

The most bitterly contested battle ever to be fought in the YWCA Girls' basketball league gets under way tonight on the YW court with the two top teams in the loop bidding for honors. The league-leading National Forge sextet tangles with the strong Struthers Wells crew in a single bill at 7:15.

The Forge aggregation is led by Onedia Sheffer, high-scoring ace who holds top scoring honors in the loop. The Irvine quint has previously defeated the Wells crew this season, but the local plant-workers may spring some surprises in tonight's test.

The Forge girls have just purchased new uniforms which will be used tonight for the first time.

Self-Watering Seed Box Helps Get Early Start

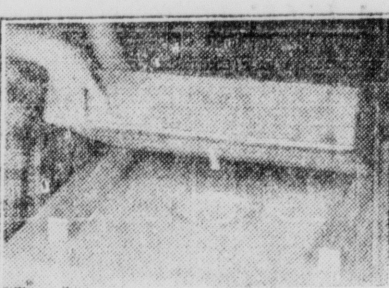

Amateur gardeners who start Victory garden seeds indoors will find success easier if they make use of the latest device for watering—wick feeding. You bore a hole in the bottom of a shallow box (seedsmen sell them knocked down); insert a wick, preferably of fibre glass, about 4 inches long. A lamp wick, or even a piece of cotton clothesline will serve quite well. The box is elevated on two pieces of wood, so that the lower end of the wick can be immersed in water in a saucer, pan, or what have you. This simple device solves the most difficult problem of managing a seed box, which is watering. Keep the reservoir filled, and the soil in the box will remain at just the right state of dampness, without dripping or drying.

To start the action, soil is first saturated by lowering a box in a tub of water; and after it has stopped dripping, it is placed in a dark place until the seeds germinate.

Sphagnum moss can be used, if desired, to prevent damping-off, which is a fungus disease that frequently attacks seedlings. Rub the moss through a coarse sieve or colander and place a layer of this shredded moss over the soil in the flat, to the depth of 1/4 to 1/2 inch. Firm and saturate soil and moss. Drop the seeds on the moss, and cover very lightly with a thin layer of sphagnum. Proceed from this point on as with soil culture.

Seedlings may be sown in this seed starter in rows, broadcast or in plant bands. When sown in rows or broadcast, more seedlings can be grown; but either they should be transplanted once indoors to another starter in which the plant bands are used; or they should be sown late enough to permit transplanting to the open garden before they get too large.

For sowing in rows, mark rows two inches apart by pressing lightly in the soil the edge of a ruler, then drop the seeds evenly along the row thus marked and cover lightly with fine soil or sand. Firm the soil by pressing lightly with a block of wood.

To broadcast, shake seed from packet so that it falls as evenly as possible over the entire flat; then cover lightly with a fine soil or sand and firm by pressing lightly with a block of wood.

Immediately sprouts appear place the box in the sunniest window you own. A kitchen window is good, because humidity is always greater there.

SeaBees Make a Mine-Sparker

The spider-like attachment on the U. S. Marine tank above, is the SeaBees' answer to the peril of enemy-sown mines. Tubular hubs, from which chain-tipped flails hang, revolve rapidly, whirling the flails so they lash the ground, detonating contact mines which may be in the tank's path. They also set up an electrical field which explodes magnetic mines.

Report To Congress May Be Made By President

(From Page One)
25 United Nations conference at San Francisco. That date, Byrnes indicated, may reflect important estimates of future military developments by the Big Three.
He expressed conviction that it had nothing to do with Russia's plans for possibly entering the war against Japan. He described it as probably the earliest date at which the leaders thought the conference could be called in view of the military situation.

BULLETIN

Paris, Feb. 14. (P)—Samuel Roseman left by a special plane today for Italy, where it was reliably reported he would confer with President Roosevelt. Roseman is a special advisor to the president. Roosevelt is expected to call on Pope Pius during his Italian travels, inspect war ruins there and return to various spots he visited in Italy as a young man.

If there is any hope that the major battles for Germany may be finished by that time, however, Byrnes did not indicate it. In fact, he said that the military plans made in the Crimea call "for a war involving more men than ever before in this conflict."
Byrnes emphasized over and over again that the declaration on liberated areas, in which the United States is committed to share with Britain and Russia in European political settlements, is of the "greatest importance."
It means an end, he said, to the danger of political rivalries between the other two powers which would lead to development of spheres of influence.

generally is rated as second only to the Oder in eastern Germany's defenses.
The conquest of Budapest in 49 days of street fighting cost the Germans 49,000 men killed and 110,000 captured. Moscow announced. It was the greatest single disaster to German arms since the battle of Stalingrad two years ago.
Moscow announcements stressed that the vain counterattacks toward Budapest from the north-west and southwest cost the Germans additional "hundreds of tanks and tens of thousands of their officers and men."

Auctioneer Denies Charges of Bribe

1922, Ferguson said it indicated Goldberg first offered $90,000 for Camp Funston in a pre-auction bid and later raised his offer to $110,000.

When the offer was not accepted, the war department report related, Goldberg paid $138,000 at a subsequent public auction "for less property" than he had sought to obtain for $110,000.
Goldberg depicted himself as the victim of "rough treatment" and "wire-tapping" in connection with inquiries into his surplus auction sales for the government.

bed found with the bodies was in a rear room in the rear of the first floor, but had fallen through to the cellar.

A number of guns were found in the ruins including shot guns, rifles and a 22 calibre revolver. The latter was lying in the ruins near the bodies.

The flames had gained such headway that attempt at rescue was impossible when neighbors first arrived at the scene. A few pieces of furniture which had been carried from the structure were piled to the south of the home. No sign of life was observed about the house when neighbors arrived.

While the investigation is being continued, and every effort is being made to solve the mystery, officials have about decided that the real facts as to what occurred in the home Monday evening will never be determined. It was reported that the son Dean made a telephone call about seven o'clock Monday evening to the home of a neighbor to make an inquiry about his car which was parked along the main highway. It is believed that he made the inquiry in connection with his plans to get to Warren to leave for Harrisburg yesterday morning with a selective service contingent. According to his brother Robert, who owns an adjoining farm, and was visiting relatives in Pittsburgh, Dean had completed the evening chores for him. The tragedy in the William Scott home, it is believed, must have occurred soon after Dean returned from his work on his brother's farm.

In spite of the fact that the farm is almost completely isolated by deep snow, and the Wilson hill road leading within a mile of it is banked high on each side with snow, and in some places restricted to one-way travel, a large number of people visited the scene yesterday. The basket containing the bodies was taken from the farm to the main road on bobsleds provided by a neighboring farmer.

Suspicion that violence of some nature occurred before the fire is borne out by the fact that it occurred before the three occupants of the home retired. Those familiar with their home life state that they were very careful about the stoves and about the idea that they may have been overcome.

The fact that the skull of Mrs. Scott contained injuries that were plainly identified as bullet holes leads to the belief that there was some shooting preceding the fire. Mr. Scott had been in ill health for some time, and had been under treatment at the Veterans' hospital in Batavia, N. Y. He was known to be despondent over his condition and the fact that the son had been called for examination and induction in the army, although it is understood that the boy was under the farm classification and it was not known what decision would have been made in his case. There was a story circulating Tuesday that the father had not been informed of the trip to Harrisburg as late as Monday afternoon, although this has not been verified.

which, during the fifth week of the Luzon campaign, exceeded 20,000.

The First Cavalry Division which crossed the Pasig on the eastern edge of Manila and skirted the devastated battle pit of the 37th, plunged all the way west to Manila Bay yesterday through suburban Pasay.

Below Pasay, the 11th Airborne Division snuffed out all enemy resistance at Nichols airfield. Other elements captured Cavite.

American casualties for the fifth week rose from 7,070 to 9,653. The totals consisted of 2,102 killed—41 missing and 7,389 wounded.

Out in Manila Bay, Japan's silenced fortress of Corregidor was fed 150 more tons of bombs Monday, today's communique disclosed.

In central Luzon, where a drive to the east coast at Dingalan Bay cut the island in half, the Sixth Division has reached Baler Bay.

Further down the west coast, the 40th Division still is mopping up enemy remnants in the mountain range which flanks Clark air center.

Differences Are Widening At Harrisburg

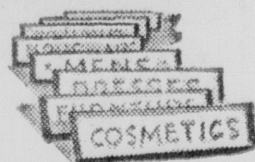

(From Page One)
Legislative action, meantime, was highspotted by house passage of a group of bi-partisan bills to make it easier for members of the armed forces to vote at this year's elections.

Abdication Proclamation

For three days out of the entire year I abdicate all responsibility for the merchandising of the Metzger-Wright Co. I turn the store over to the Department Heads, lock, stock and barrel. It is their responsibility to decide what merchandise is most in need of Clearance. It is their job to decide what amount of markdowns to take. It is, in short, their complete responsibility to clean house in their various departments, to get rid of all broken lots, excess stocks, and seasonal goods—with no questions asked. This year, operating as we are under the restrictions of the Inventory Limitation Regulation, it is more than ever important that they do a good job of housecleaning. I do not know of any store in any town of 15,000 throughout the country that has a more able staff of buyers. They will do this clearance job right—and you will profit.

W. H. Wright
President.

COORDINATED AID SUPPORT IS PROVIDED

More Than 2,250 U. S.
Bombers, Fighters Strike
Germany In Widespread Attacks

FOLLOW NIGHT RAID

London, Feb. 14.—(P)—More than 2,250 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in wide-spread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was already burning from a night assault by 800 heavy RAF bombers. Dresden is only 68 miles or less from advancing Russian troops, and is a nerve center of Nazi defenses in central Germany. The day and night air blows were in direct and coordinated support of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army.

The RAF bombed Dresden twice in attacks three hours apart.

Part of the American force, consisting of more than 1,350 flying Fortresses and Liberators and 900 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets at Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Magdeburg, 70 miles west of Berlin.

A fourth formation was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of the Canadian First Army on the western front.

Altogether the RAF dispatched 1,400 aircraft to Germany during the night. Other targets were a synthetic oil plant at Bohlen, south of Leipzig, objectives at Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of Berlin, and the railroad towns of Nurnberg, Bonn and Dortmund. All the night operations were at a cost of 16 bombers missing.

Nimitz Directing War From Guam

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, Feb. 14.—(P)—Marine and army patrols—sometimes armed with guns and sometimes with loud speakers—are clearing out the last few hundred Japanese from this island which Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today as his advance headquarters. Nimitz said several weeks ago he had moved from Pearl Harbor to a "forward area" to keep up with the war warring westwardly moved Japan.

Canadian and British troops in the Kleve-Goch sector of the Western Front continue their slow advance toward the Ruhr industrial valley of Germany, approaching within 2 1/2 miles of the latter city. The U. S. 1st and 9th Armies are building up strength to push across the Roer River, swelled over its banks at points through partial demolition of dams by Germans. The U. Report To Congress and the Nation on Big Three Meeting May Be Made By President

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—President Roosevelt may report directly to congress and the nation on the accomplishments and far-reaching significance of his meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

He is reported to be greatly cheered by the agreements reached on both military and political issues. Associates consider it likely that he will want to tell the American people himself, when he gets home, how these agreements can shorten the war and contribute to an Atlantic charter peace.

First hand information on the historic Big 3 gathering in the Crimea came, meanwhile, from James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, who arrived yesterday from the Crimea and met newsmen in late afternoon. Byrnes said he hoped that Mr. Roosevelt would make a radio broadcast or address congress.

He disclosed that the president had acted as chairman of the meeting and proposed two of the agreements—those on liberated areas and the Dumbarton Oaks voting issue—which were announced in today's communique. The Dumbarton Oaks decision, like many others arrived at, remains temporarily secret, but it cleared the way for the April (Turn to Page Nine)

Artillery Duels On Italian Front

By NOLAN NORGARD
Rome, Feb. 14.—(P)—The entire Italian front subsided into minor patrol clashes and artillery duels today, with the Germans probing more actively at Allied lines.

A Brazilian platoon with artillery support raided an enemy-held hill a mile east of Gaggia, 29 miles southwest of Bologna, and engaged the Nazi defenders in a sharp clash, Allied headquarters announced.

South of Bologna an enemy patrol was driven from Montecalderaro and a small party was captured near Frassinetti. In the Tyrrhenian coastal sector, American tanks made a demonstration which drew enemy fire in the vicinity of Galliano.

Similar activity was reported in the Eighth Army sector.

Cold Weather Checks First Thaw of Protracted Winter

By The Associated Press
Cold weather has checked the first thaw of Pennsylvania's great snow, but observers agree that plenty of it remains on the ground to extend the flood danger season. Reports indicate the situation remains about the same—with a big "if" figuring strongly. "If" there's a heavy prolonged rain and quick thaw, floods would follow. But a normal seasonal thaw will carry off the water.

A blizzard swept northwestern Pennsylvania yesterday putting seven new inches of snow down at Bradford, and three or more at Kane, Warren, Corry and St. Marys. Light snow fell in eastern Pennsylvania and freezing rain made for hazardous driving in Philadelphia, York and surrounding areas.

Man-made controls kept the flow of the Ohio river in hand at Pittsburgh with water from the first heavy thaw rolling harmlessly downstream.

Small streams in southwestern Pennsylvania were running bank full, carrying the run-off. The Monongahela was stationary while the Allegheny, fed by melting snow and rain, rose slightly. About half an inch of rain fell in southwestern Pennsylvania yesterday.

Light rains accompanied by slowly rising temperatures have alleviated much of the flood dangers in the Schuylkill river area, the Philadelphia weather bureau reported.

RESISTANCE AT MANILA IS NEARING END

Grim Doughboys Advancing

Bodies Loose Decisive
Blow for Capital

68,000 ENEMY DEAD

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Manila, Feb. 14.—(P)—Grim Manila's south Pasig district, where fierce fighting has been raging for days, began to fade today because of the stubborn resistance of Japanese entrenched along Taft avenue to the college ground near Harrison Park. This hotly contested area was still a mile from the waterfront. The Japanese were known to be in many parts of the intervening terrain. Troops of the 27th Infantry Division captured the Masonic temple, on Taft avenue, yesterday. They did not report how much damage the edifice had sustained.

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Manila, Feb. 14.—(P)—Grim Yanks, advancing among ruins strewn with bodies of the foe, loosed the decisive blow for Manila today at Japanese cornered in a three square mile area near the Pasig river's mouth. The other Doughboys on the southern outskirts seized Cavite naval base and two airfields.

"The end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced on the 12th day since his columns entered the city, which since has become the most devastated battlefield of the southwest Pacific campaign.

Doomed to be added to the more than 68,000 enemy casualties on Luzon island in five weeks, the Japanese survivors within Manila are massed behind thick walls of the centuries-old Intramuros, within government buildings and among the foe.

Cavite, on the south shore of Manila Bay, fell Tuesday. The last Rising Sun warrior was killed at the last. He had his pre-flight training at Maxwell Field, Ala., and advanced instruction at Stuttgart, Ark., receiving his pilot wings and flight officer's appointment on August 4, 1944.

He was home on a brief furlough in October of last year, reporting to Charleston, S. C., for combat crew training and left from there for overseas.

Flight Officer Wilson was a member of St. Clara's Catholic church at Clarendon and a memorial mass will be sung in his memory at a time to be announced later.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Robert, seaman second class and radioman in the South Pacific, and three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Flinn, Washington, D. C.; Margaret and Janice, at home.

Byrnes cites need of draft of labor

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—The senate military committee today pondered War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' new endorsement of work-or-jail legislation as three more witnesses prepared to testify on the measure.

Clinton Golden of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Lewis Hines of the American Federation of Labor, and Ernest L. Bell, counsel for the Citizens National Committee for a National War Service Act, were asked to testify today.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) saw no chance of a vote on the bill this week.

Renewing his support of new manpower controls to aid war production, Byrnes said that "more men will be in combat in March than ever before."

He told a news conference yesterday on his return from the China Big Three conference that he knew "nothing that has occurred to cause me to change my view in support of the May bill."

Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The city council decided today to change the name of "Avenue De Tokyo" on the Seine's right bank to "Avenue De New York."

Chungking, Feb. 14.—(P)—China has accepted an invitation to be one of the sponsors of the United Nations conference opening at San Francisco on April 25 and has agreed on voting procedure in the peace security organ.

Last Rites For Victims of Tragic Freehold Fire To Be Held Thursday At Lottsville

Funeral services in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson Scott and their son Dean, victims of the fire which destroyed their home on Wilson Hill, Freehold township, Monday night, will be held from the Lottsville Methodist church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. C. H. Foss officiating. Interment will be in the cemetery at Bear Lake.

During the investigation Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Sanford Secor, Pvt. C. W. Irwin of the state police and Coroner Ed Lowrey, assisted by F. A. Schoonover, funeral director of Sugar Grove, it was definitely established that parts of the three bodies had been recovered from the smoldering ruins. The head and torso of Mrs. Scott were intact, with part of her nose glasses still on her face. Only the torso of the son remained, while only part of the vertebrae with pelvic bones and a thigh bone of Mr. Scott were found.

Dr. A. A. Grant, of Sugar Grove, was called in last evening to verify the examinations made previously by the officials. The pocketbook of Dean Scott was found intact in part of the trousers which still adhered to the torso.

There was no way to determine whether or not Mr. Scott or the son had met with violence before cremation, since the heads were both missing and the remains so badly burned that it was impossible to identify any marks that may have been made before death.

Sheriff L. E. Linder and Pvt. Irwin left for the scene again this morning to continue the investigation and make a further search of the ruins of the home which were still smoldering Tuesday afternoon, which hampered the work of the investigators and volunteers.

The bodies were all found in one corner of the cellar, and it appeared that two of them may have been in bed. What was first believed to have been part of one of the victims, located near a vestibule was found upon closer examination to have been a quarter of beef which was known to have been in the home.

There appeared no doubt in the minds of the officers and those assisting them that holes in the skull of Mrs. Scott were from bullets fired by a revolver or rifle. The bones were too badly charred to establish from which side it was inflicted.

From the information given the officers it would appear that the fire started in the south side of the dwelling, opposite to the point where the bodies were found. The officers were informed that the (Turn to Page Nine)

Obstacles To Reunion Of Lewis In AFL

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14.—(P)—John L. Lewis' demand that his United Mine Workers be represented on the executive council if he returns to the AFL presented new, but presumably surmountable, obstacles to reunion today.

The council, meeting here now to consider Lewis' return to the American Federation of Labor, was said to be willing to give Lewis or his representative a place among them, but they wouldn't guarantee it.

Lewis or his agent would first be elected a vice president, they point out, and, while the council members voted, considerable influence in an election, the outcome could not be guaranteed.

Dubinsky, like Lewis, left the AFL in the strife over formation of the CIO, but he returned to the federation in 1939. Dubinsky has never been restored to membership on the council.

Should a vacancy develop between conventions of the federation, Lewis could be appointed to fill it, however.

Hike In Debt Limit To Three Hundred Billion Is Forecast

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Congressional fiscal leaders bit their lips today as they conceded that the national debt limit will have to be boosted to $300,000,000,000 very shortly.

But they foresaw a chance to start whittling it down not later than two years after the war, provided, as one of them put it, "the people wake up."

Confronted with legislation to add another $40,000,000,000 stretch to the present debt limit of $260,000,000,000, the chairman and the ranking Republican member of the house appropriations committee joined in demanding sharp curtailment of all government spending.

The debt now stands at $234,000,000,000. A month before Pearl Harbor it was $55,000,000,000.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.), who heads the group through which all appropriation bills must pass, said it was "a matter of regret" that the debt limit must be boosted as was proposed yesterday in a bill by Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the house ways and means committee.

GAINS SCORED BY THIRD

BULLETIN
Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Canadian First Army in a flanking threat to the Ruhr industrial valley advanced today within a mile and a half of heavily fortified Goch, beating down with cannon and planes the most determined German counterattacks yet mounted on the northern front. Massed artillery firing from the dank recesses of the captured Reichswald forest roared incessantly at the seven crack German divisions opposing the Allied thrust between the Rhine and Meuse, through the northern end of the original Siegfried line.

Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—The Canadian First Army charged behind massed guns and flamethrowers today to within a mile and a half of Goch, 11-way German traffic center between the Rhine and Meuse, and outflanked it on the northeast by capturing Hasselt and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots and Britons of Gen. Henry Crerar's army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square mile Reichwald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven strongly armored German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried line.

Canadian infantry closed up firmly to the line of the Oude Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry crossing facing the industrial center of Emmerich.

Army's Need For Nurses Is Acute

Washington, Feb. 14.—(P)—Undersecretary of War Patterson today urged prompt enactment of a nurse's draft law.

He said 400,000 soldiers already have been wounded and "the end of the fighting in Europe is not in sight."

In a surprise appearance before the house military committee Patterson urged the army's need for nurses "acute and immediate."

"Voluntary recruiting cannot be relied on to make good the shortage in time," he asserted.

Saying the army now is short 16,000 nurses in addition to needing 250 replacements each month, Patterson added: "It would take nine months to overcome the shortage and to make good the expected attrition. The wounded cannot wait that long."

CORRY MAN CHARGED IN HIT-AND-RUN CASE

Bradford, Feb. 14.—(P)—Clifford Baker, 40, of Corry, was ordered held in McKean county jail, Smethport, in default of $1,000 bail following arraignment yesterday on a hit-run charges in connection with injuries suffered by Tom Reminger, 15, of Custer City.

Baker was taken into custody by state police yesterday as he was leaving a filling station in Kane.

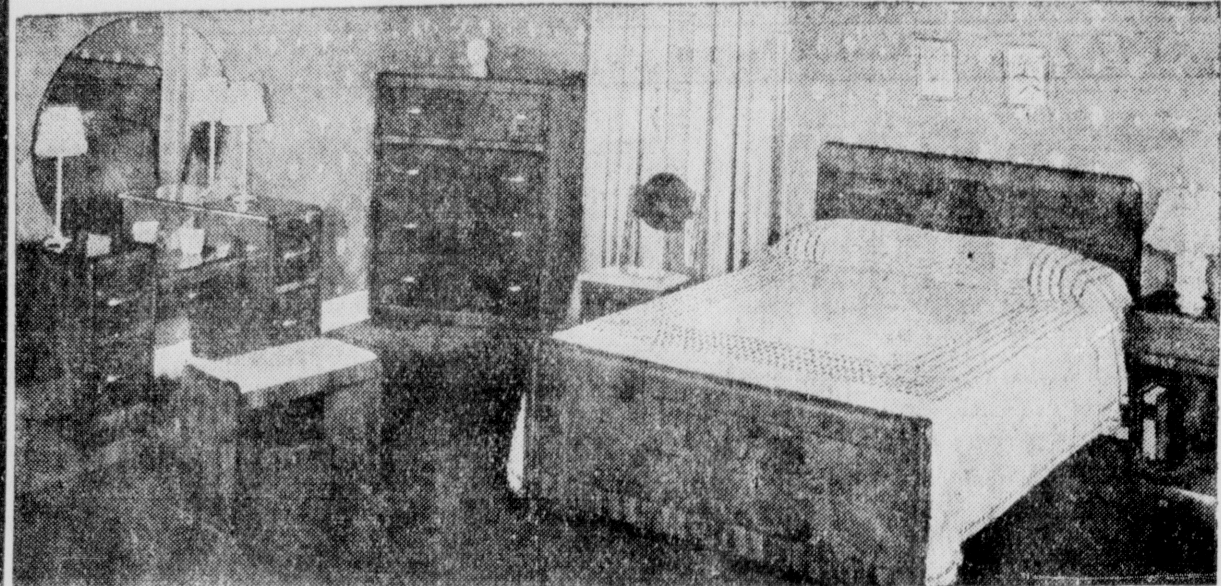

Reminger was said to have been thrown 50 feet by the car on Bradford-Lewis Run highway on Route 219 Monday night.

Ranking Republican member of the house appropriations committee joined in demanding sharp curtailment of all government spending.

The debt now stands at $234,000,000,000. A month before Pearl Harbor it was $55,000,000,000.

RENTED ROOMS MUST BE LISTED

Enforcement divisions of the OPA has launched a survey to ferret out persons renting to one or more persons who have not registered rental quarters with that government agency, Frank S. Anderson, director of Erie and Warren County Defense Rental area, revealed Monday.

"There's a lot of people in Erie and Warren counties who are landlords under OPA's rent regulations and don't realize it," said Anderson, "I mean those who rent out a room in their homes to one or more persons."

"Even though a person has only one or two paying guests in his home, he must register these rentals under regulations for housing accommodations," Anderson explained.

"We must have 100 per cent registration of rental units for effective control of rents," he continued. "Rent is the largest single item, next to food, in the most of living."

"I know that a large number of persons are patriotically opening their homes to war workers and wives of service men and renting out a room. That's fine, but remember that room must be registered at the rent office."

"There's nothing frightening or tedious about registering. We have the forms at our office and are glad to help landlords fill out one or more forms. Failure to register subjects the persons renting to the penalties of the Emergency Price Control act."

Plenty smart, if you are one of the thousands of girls and women who have found blessed relief from "monthly grumps" in Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Of course, they do not correct organic menstrual conditions that require consultation with your doctor. But they do help to relieve the discomfort of functional pains, cramps, headaches and nervousness that frequently accompanies the normal menstrual period. Taken according to directions, Chi-Ches-Ters Pills tend to relax the muscular contraction that is often the cause of unnecessary distress. Blizzard Left Heavy Snow In Its Wake Here

The blizzard which swept over this county yesterday left five and one half inches of snow in its wake in the borough and between six and seven inches out in the country. The highway department got out all of its available machinery and the main roads were kept open. Many of them are rough but are passable. On the rural roads much work has been done and most of them are passable. Crews were sent to Wilson Hill yesterday and the roadway there widened due to the large amount of driving to the Scott farm where fire destroyed the Scott farm house.

In the city work was done on the gutters in an endeavor to get them open and cinders were used on the streets at intersections.

The New York Central railroad is keeping up traffic but the snow yesterday on the first day the line was open for its length delayed freight trains. Freight No. 11 was tied up and many cars had to be set off on sidings and the northbound freight did not get out of here until 4 a. m. due to heavy snows at Torpedo and in that section. Fortunately the snow did not drift to any great extent. A snow plow is to be run over the line today.

Looks Backward—But Goes Forward

One of the weirdest-looking planes to come off U. S. designers' drawing boards is the Army's hitherto-secret "Ascender" fighter, pictured above during one of its first flights. Officially the XP-55, the plane appears to fly backwards because the 1275-hp Allison engine is behind the pilot, with the propeller in the rear. Wings, which have extreme backward rake, are also set near the rear, with rudders at the wingtips instead of on the tail. Elevator controls, also usually on the tail, are on the nose of this "tail-first" plane. Curtiss-Wright Corp., which developed the plane at St. Louis, says radical design gives it extra maneuverability, speed, and better visibility for pilot.

RECOGNIZING VETERANS

We have been told of an honorably discharged and thrice-decorated soldier who, shortly after returning to civilian life in his home town, put on his uniform again. A friend met him on the street and asked him if he had been called back into the service.

"No," the soldier said, "I put my uniform back on because I got so tired of having people ask me why a young man my age wasn't in the army."

That young soldier was issued an honorable discharge pin when he left the service. Presumably he wore it on the lapel of his civilian suit. And presumably the people who asked him why he wasn't in uniform had no idea of what the pin signified, if they saw it at all.

So perhaps it is time that all of us started taking notice. The discharge pin is plastic, and the insignia is a gold-plated eagle within a circle, with the wings extending beyond the circle's edge.

These pins are given to all honorably discharged men and women when they leave the service. They should be worn by the thousands who have already returned to civilian life, and by the millions who will follow them. They are proud distinctions, and they should earn their wearers special consideration and freedom from hard looks and tiresome questions.

Our congratulations to Mrs. Sarah McCormick, who today is observing her 104th birthday anniversary at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Rowland. Having resided in the vicinity of Youngsville for nearly eighty years, Mrs. McCormick ranks as the county's "grand old lady."

We could do without that five or six inches of snow that fell over the county Tuesday, adding to the difficulties of the highway crews that have been doing a grand job in keeping the main roads open.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, Rector Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church

ASH WEDNESDAY AND LENT

The name of this day derives from an ancient custom. The people knelt at the altar rail, and the priest, dipping his thumb in ashes, marked the forehead of each person with a small cross. As he did so, he said to each: "Remember, O Man, that thou art but dust, and unto dust thou shalt return." In some churches this practice still continues. It gives one an unpleasant feeling to be so vividly reminded that one day we must die.

But there is something glorious about it, too. It brings home to us the fact that the religion of Christ is realistic, and not afraid to face anything—even the grim things like sin and sorrow and death.

From earliest times, the Christian Church has appointed special times for self-examination, fasting and prayer. The Season of Lent is one of those ancient Christian seasons. Thus we have in Ash Wednesday and the season following a reminder of the shortness and uncertainty of life, a period of spiritual housecleaning and spiritual refreshment which, if combined, will help us to achieve such a soundly ordered life as will assure us not only of a good Lent, but of a definite advance in our citizenship in the Kingdom of God. Indeed, the forty days of Lent provide a unique opportunity for spiritual growth and enlightenment. The experience of the centuries has shown this. Many Christians, who by tradition have been inclined to ignore such a season, are now turning to a greater use of it. It would be wise for us who have always observed it to make sure that we do not miss its real purposes and opportunities.

One of the chief purposes of Lent is that we shall seek to learn to practice Christian self-discipline. In a world that is fast drifting toward totalitarian ideals of government, Christian people may be glad that we may still learn what freedom in the spiritual life means. The church has the duty to teach us God's way of life, and to use all reasonable means to induce us to follow it. It will lead us in that way, if we still have wisdom to follow it.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Your capital in wartime:

The War Department has finally bowed to congressional criticism so that under only exceptional circumstances will officers under 28 be assigned to the Washington area. In addition, the department has a thorough study of the whole officer detail here under way and all who are physically able and not doing specific jobs for which they are particularly fitted will be assigned to combat or training duty.

REP. JENNINGS RANDOLPH, a retired Democrat from West Virginia, has introduced a bill to establish a national university devoted entirely to training men and women for service in federal, state and local governments. It isn't the first time the idea has been broached but it is being given more attention now than ever before. Administration of the war and its many ramifications has brought home to the people generally the shortcomings of government employees more forcefully than at any time in recent decades.

WASHINGTON — The days remind local columnist Jerry Klutz of the story about the dying patriarch who roused from a coma and called his wife, five sons and two daughters. When each had answered and in turn assured the old man that they were by his side, he rose up in bed, horrified, and stormed: "Then who's tending the store?"

That's about the way it has been around here lately. On Capitol Hill they tell about an administration senator slashing down the White House to get a decision on some important legislation now in debate. He met a colleague coming out. The latter shook his head: "It's no use. The President can't beat Congress (the consensual way of guarding his whereabouts). Harry Hopkins is on his way from Rome to somewhere. Jimmy Byrnes is 'out of the country.' And even Secretary of State Stettinius is 'unavailable and will be for some days.'"

(Note: After careful check, it was determined that Vice President Harry Truman, Henry Wallace, Jesse Jones, Mrs. Roosevelt and Pala still were in town, but there wasn't any assurance that one or all might not depart any moment. And that still doesn't answer the question about who's running the store.)

UNDER orders of the Office of Defense Transportation, conventions have dropped to their lowest level in years, but ODT privately reports that the applications for holding conventions are staggering. The latest large group to call off its annual convention was the National Tuberculosis Association, which had scheduled a June session of 1,700 delegates in Buffalo, N. Y., in June. Early in the first few weeks after the order, ODT received 110 applications from groups who insisted their annual meetings were absolutely necessary. After investigation, ODT okayed two, turned down 108.

INTERIOR SECRETARY HAROLD ICKES is in another row with Congress, but this one probably won't make headlines. Rep. Edward Hebert (D-La.) had introduced a bill to take Ickes' private police force away from him. He wants to merge the U. S. park police with the metropolitan police force. Ickes says his police force which patrols the District of Columbia's miles of parks (15 per cent of the capital's total area) is more efficient than the District coppers.

Hollywood Gossip

"Guest In The House," a Hunt Stromberg production starring Anne Baxter, with Ralph Bellamy, Aline MacMahon, Scott McKay and Marie McDonald.

THE Broadway original of "Guest In The House" ran 45 weeks. It was a notable piece of legitimate theater staging, and in many respects it is likewise a notable film. Hunt Stromberg, who produced it, is a craftsman worthy of a slightly better result, however. There should have been some lift given to the play in its adaptation to the screen. Its faults are in the static feeling it acquires as it progresses.

The "Guest in the House" is a young girl, beautiful but suffering from a bad heart condition. She is brought to a happy home to rest and make the best of her condition. Her cardiac trouble, however, is not as serious as her mental state, as it turns out, for she is a cruel, scheming and wily young lady who soon has her ruining imprint on everyone in the place.

Anne Baxter plays this twisted youngster with a great deal of feeling and the rest of the cast are similarly well equipped for the job. Ralph Bellamy is excellent as the head of the ill-starred household and Ruth Warwick as his wife is even better.

HUNT STROMBERG, who produced this United Artists Release, is a gentleman with a redoubtable cinematic background. A noted innovator, he was the first Hollywood producer to conceive the feature series idea (Our Dancing Daughters, Our Blushing Brides and Our Modern Maidens). He tried a few daring experiments such as "White Shadows In The South Seas" and "Eskimo," "Mayfair" brought Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald together.

His "The Great Ziegfeld" won academy awards. He gave movie mysteries a sense of humor with "The Thin Man" and started Hollywood in pursuit of a new sort of detective, with tongue in cheek and a cocktail in hand.

ONE of the most daringly-presented stories ever put on celluloid was "Night Must Fall," which also served as Robert Montgomery's escape from film pompousness and proved that he is a fine actor. Some of Stromberg's other movie accomplishments were "Ah Wilderness," "Idiot's Delight," "The Women," "Pride and Prejudice" and "Lady of Burlesque."

In "Guest In The House" Stromberg again is tossing tradition out the window by providing the subject of paranoia with its first respectful dramatic screen treatment. It is a highly-interesting film, and the major complaint is its massively slow movement. Even so, it is by no means a poor picture. And if a screen fan can sit through seemingly endless establishment of plot and mood, it may even be hugely worth while.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror:

This winter one could scarcely pick up a paper without running across an item about loss of life and irreparable property from overheated heating appliances.

Yet all fall and winter newspapers and magazines have carried advertisements of thermostats for temperature control, our Government and gas companies have urged their use, no priorities are required to obtain them and the cost has been reduced on them so they are within the reach of all.

They are obtainable for a few dollars for any type of heating appliance from the old parlor stove to the automatic stoker furnace, and the cost is saved in a few months in fuel alone, to say nothing of the saving of lives and property and the distress and expense of sickness from uncontrolled heating in the home.

Those who will squeeze a quarter until the eagle screams, think nothing of shovelling coal in the stove and wasting heat or paying drug and doctor bills before they will invest a few dollars for comfort and even a livesaving device.

It seems insurance companies and fire inspectors should make it mandatory for all to equip their heating appliances with these devices, not only to protect themselves but their neighbors from disastrous fires.

As long as human nature is as it is, people will continue to shovel

RY TOM WEST (From Page Three)

Yesterday, O'Shane, as their footstep: echoed off the sidewalk with water, but a blonde dancer gives the alarm. Trying to force his way out the back door of the dance hall, he is met by gunfire. Backtracking, he starts to go out the front door when his way is blocked by the Marshal, who orders him to surrender for the murder of Tom Curran.

Tom's head's face was an expressionless mask. His right arm was crooked above his right ear.

"You ain't arresting me, Parker," his voice was bleak.

"I'm accusing," said Parker.

"Go for your gun!" grated O'Shane. As he spoke his hand slipped. Parker's hand swept down and up.

Before he could thumb the hammer, a streak of fire spurted from the redhead's side. Parker's brawny arm jerked back and his 45 clattered to the floor.

The fugitive spun round. His smoking iron pivoted from left to right as he backed towards the door.

O'Shane felt the swinging door at his back. Focused by undimmed eyes he eased through, backwards—and felt the harsh pressure of a gun barrel between his shoulder blades.

"Drop that iron!" came Wacker's curt command.

"Stretch!" O'Shane's arms reluctantly moved ceilingwards; the dance hall swung adroitly twisted the 45 out of his hand.

Tension relaxed, sound cascaded from the throng of onlookers. The Marshal broke through the crowd. "March!" he grunted to O'Shane.

"I'll trail along" volunteered Wacker. "This jasper is as slippery as a rattler, as far as I'm concerned."

Silas dogging their footsteps, the two clumped along the plank walk in the direction of the jail, a square adobe structure on the rear of the Marshal's two-room office and living quarters.

"Sorry I had to wing you," said O'Shane, as their footstep: echoed off the sidewalk with water, but a blonde dancer gives the alarm. Trying to force his way out the back door of the dance hall, he is met by gunfire. Backtracking, he starts to go out the front door when his way is blocked by the Marshal, who orders him to surrender for the murder of Tom Curran.

"Yeah!"

"Yeah! Mr. Know-all! And now you'll hear it!"

"Go ahead!" grunted Parker and listened in polite silence as she repeated O'Shane's story.

The Marshal shook his head doubtfully. "Could be, but I'll gamble my badge on his lying."

"Let me see him, Bill."

"Okay," he grunted.

WHEN O'Shane saw her, he gasped in astonishment. "What are you doing in this hole, Miss Thornton?"

"Oh, I came to cheer you up," she said, looking up at the window.

"Look, I can see the stars!" she exclaimed with delight. But her eyes were on O'Shane and her right eye dropped significantly. "They can be so helpful."

After she left, O'Shane, puzzled, sat on the bed. Study the stars? Well, he'd watch those stars, if he sat there until sunup.

For an hour O'Shane figured he must have watched that window, but nothing happened. Then unexpectedly, a package sailed right through the aperture.

Swiftly he unwrapped a silk bandanna and beheld a dainty 32! Breathing a prayer of thankfulness to the resourceful Viola, he hefted the little gun.

Baldy came along to see how he was doing. His head snapped back as the muzzle of the 32 protruded, not six inches from his bonny nose.

"Open this door or I'll scatter your brains, pronto!" rasped O'Shane.

Gaping at the gun barrel, the deputy slowly opened the door.

Lifting Baldy's 45 he slipped the little 32 into his waistband and forced the deputy into the cell. Then slipping down to the empty bunk on the wall, tossed Baldy's iron into the waste-basket and stepped out on the plank walk.

Square jaw set, O'Shane stepped briskly in the direction of the dance hall. He had a score to settle with Silas Wacker.

On Tuesday Sidney D. Blackman, prominent local attorney, spoke at the Lions Club meeting "The Life of Abraham Lincoln." Mr. Blackman is known by many to be a very good speaker. He is especially well qualified to speak on the life of Lincoln. His father was a sergeant in the army of the Potomac and met and was personally with Lincoln while serving in same. The speaker did not deal very much with the already well known historical facts regarding the life of Lincoln. He discussed the life of Lincoln as a man, his physical and mental aspects, etc. Mr. Blackman traced the migration of the family from Great Britain to this country in 1637 and in the east part of the country toward. He also told of the boyhood of Lincoln and how by much of work and self-education the later became a famous lawyer. Lincoln's great desire in life was to be just, honest, charitable and kind. We all know how well he succeeded in this as history contains many illustrations of his greatness. A poem which was very appropriate, "The Man of the People", Edwin Markheim was read in connection with the talk. All who heard Mr. Blackman commented on the many interesting facts which were given and how evident was that much time and effort had been expended in the preparation of the talk. The guests who were present at the meeting included Technical Sergeant Robert Dietsch of the United States Marines and Richard Tumacher, Personnel Director of the Pennsylvania Electric Corporation in Warren.

Yep, that hole's right smack through the brick chimney. It was put there by an artillery shell during heavy Allied bombardment of the factory town of Wiltz, Luxembourg.

Both his wife, who lives in Meadville and his parents have received letters from him from hospital along the front, in the last few days where he was being treated for nervous shock, so there is hope that the government report may be a mistake. Novel Features in the Current House-of-the-Month Display Persons planning to build a home after the war are showing a growing interest in the designs offered each month through the Warren National Bank "House of the Month Club." The Newton, February House of the Month, is pictured in an ad in today's Times-Mirror. It embodies all the improvements that modern people can hope for in many years to come. Though of basic colonial design, its interior embraces a great many features to make it a comfortable and practical dwelling. The floor plan is well designed and the rooms are of good size. The living room, 13 1/2 x 19 1/2, has a fireplace along the inner wall and ample wall space for various arrangements of furniture. The porch shown off the living room, may be built to the right or to the rear of the dining room. To permit the maximum of free wall space, modern sliding doors are featured in all closets, between the kitchen and dining room, and also to shield the living room from the service foyer. The bath is quite an innovation for a small house. In addition to the complete bath, there is adjacent an extra toilet room. Many a home builder will appreciate the convenience of this feature. Like all houses shown, The Newton is designed to comply with the standards and construction requirements of the F.H.A. Complete floor plans and larger pictures form an interesting display in the Bank's lobby.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Today is Ash Wednesday as well as Valentine's Day. The Lenten season is ushered in and the badge of Ash Wednesday is the little dab of ashes (burned palm) soon on the foreheads of many. They are distributed by the Catholic and Episcopal churches with the prayer that goes "Remember man, thou art of dust and into dust thou shalt return." . . . And the postoffice knows it is Valentine's Day as hundreds of valentines are being handled through the postoffice today and every mail carrier has many of the sweet remembrances. . . . The old fashioned funny ones are sadly missing and try as we would we couldn't find a comic one to send Mush Mathis even if we did promise him one. . . . Believe it or not the Democratic National committee has selected Friday April 13th (April) as the date for the annual $100 a-plate Jefferson Day dinner in Washington. . . . 10 boys from St. Joseph's Parish have made the supreme sacrifice for their country. "Jiggs" Sullivan who was the 10th had his picture in the Lake Shore Visitor in its last issue. . . .

Business Women Hear Fine Address By Mr. Young; Increase Membership To 60

Three new members, Marjorie Barrett, Mary Desner and Margaret Gesin, were voted by members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club last evening to bring the total membership to 60.

There were 50 members and guests present for the February dinner-meeting, held in the YWCA activities building. Patriotic decorations were carried out with grouped flags and single flags on gold standards, red and blue candles and white star place cards. Continuing the theme, Viola Lindmark directed the singing of several patriotic songs.

Guest speaker was Robert R. Young, of the high school, whose remarks dealt with several phases of history leading up to the Dumbarton Oaks plan and the necessity for adoption of some sort of peace and reconstruction plan that will have sufficient teeth for enforcement.

The study of history, he said, should not be the mere memorizing of a string of dates but application of the events as they affect the lives of people and future events. He pointed out from our own American history development of the two great ideals of self-government and union, comparing the early Articles of Confederation to the League of Nations, with their weaknesses and impossibilities for enforcement, and stressing necessity for reaching some such world plan as has been effected in our own country's constitutional government and Bill of Rights. He referred also to the "Four Square Plan" outlined by Secretary of State Stettinius and condensed in the current issue of Reader's Digest. He concluded by saying it is not nearly so important now to consider what we have or have not done but what are we going to do.

In the business meeting which followed Mr. Young's address, president Louise Kelly called for reports from Violet Peterson, Inez Leake and Margaret Holmes. The sum of $5 was voted to the March of Dimes, the annual donation of $20 to the Red Cross and a gift of $10 to the YWCA for its courtesies. Emma Atkins, Eunice Alexander and May Belle Bairstow were appointed to consider a proposed club project and report at the next meeting, and members accepted with regret the resignation of Elizabeth Lopez as corresponding secretary.

Goldie Hill, who is a member of Beauty faculty and chairman of District One, paid her official visit to the local club, pointing out the ways in which club membership will aid business women in becoming better "builders in the days of reconstruction to come". She spoke also of the district meeting to be held in Youngsville April 14, when Helen Remler, of Meadville, state vice president, will be the principal speaker, and of the possibilities for a state convention in Meadville in June.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:—

I've enjoyed your letters that appear in the paper every night and so decided to write to you myself.

A lot is being said about the change that takes place in our boys who are coming home on 30 day furloughs, but nothing seems to be said about the change in the folks back home, for instance the people aren't very hospitable to our boys home on furlough. They refuse to pick them up in their cars when the boys are standing along the road waiting for some one to be good enough to take them a little ways. Some of the boys I've talked to say as many as 30 cars will pass them up. Another waited for 2½ hours.

Now I ask you is that a nice way to treat these grand lads who have been overseas fighting so the people in this country can keep their cars and other things.

A lot of gas is being used by people running after butter and cigarettes so why can't the people of Warren and vicinity be kinder and give a little lift once in awhile to the boys who have been eating bully beef and hard biscuits and living in fox holes.

The boys are so appreciative, so pick them up once and find for yourself they really don't bite.

A Disgusted Sister of a boy in the service.

A Baby's Start In Life

By Mullen Drug Co.

A baby starts in life with an amount of energy and resistance to disease given to it by its parents. Then from day to day additions in the form of food, air and sunshine are made.

But there are constant dangers to the baby's welfare. Fortunately, these can be offset by letting your doctor immunize the child against prevalent and rare diseases of childhood, polio, for instance.

When medication is required, be sure that the compounding of the prescription is scientifically controlled for purity and accuracy.

Benefit Games Scheduled On YMCA Hardwood; Struthers To Battle High School Seconds

High Man

Bob Kurland, seven-foot center, may be too tall for the Army, but he is the All-America center and makes Oklahoma A & M. tall stuff in basketball.

Two fast games are slated for tonight's benefit schedule at the YMCA. At 7:30, the Warren-Sylvania quint meets the Tidoute Independents in a preliminary to the 8:30 clash between the Warren High School Seconds and the Struthers Wells five, first half winners of YMCA City cage loop.

Proceeds of tonight's games will go to Gall Nelson, who received a broken collarbone in the Struthers-Bloomquist encounter of January 25, and to the March of Dimes fund.

The first game this evening brings to Warren an almost unknown club, the Tidoute Independents, who battle the Sylvaniaans in the first go. The Sylvania aggregation is held as the favorite, although just what the Tidoute club has to offer is a mystery. Red Hand, Roy Juusola, Bob Bjers, Bill Massa, and Don Bjers will make up the starting crew for the Green and White tonight. This quint copied its first encounter of the second half of the Y loop Monday night, downing Bakers.

The main battle brings together the fast and scrappy High School second squad and the Struthers outfit. The schoolboys dropped the Wellsmen in their first meeting on the Beatty court. The Blue and White crew took advantage of their conditioning to score a decisive victory over Red Swanson's crew on the long Junior High court, but the story may differ on the YM hardwood.

Coach Massa will probably use Jim Scalise, the spark of the school outfit, Jim Farrell, Neil Simmons, Anthony Vesio, and Red Wollaston as his starting five. Manager Swanson will mink on his veterans to "take the boys over the coals." Bob Chase, Dick Finley, Ted Kaminski, Willard Zerbe, and Allie Lord will be the probable Struthers lineup when Diz Hines begins tooting the whistle.

Demps Petersen, Junior Akeley, and Frank Frankowski head the Wellsmen's reserve list.

Wicht Announces Dates For State Basketball Playoffs

Behind the Lines

Gale Bishop, the Fort Lewis whiz in the Pacific Northwest area, scored but nine points last week, but it boosted his total past the 700-point mark and he still remains in the No. 1 position in the nation's service basketball scoring race. The Fort Lewis private rimmed 295 field goals and 115 charity tosses for an aggregate of 701 points, 206 more than the 495 scored by Ermer Robinson, of Fort Warren, who continued in the runner-up spot. Bob Kinney, a former Rice star now at Camp Bradford in Virginia, bobbed up in third place, while another newcomer, Reece Tatum, of the Lincoln, Neb., Army Air Base, took over the fourth place berth.

Byron Nelson, just $1,333.33 richer for his sensational win in the New Orleans Open, headed for the Mississippi gulf coast today, where he hopes to continue his bid for a new all-time record in the $5,000 Gulfport Open. The New Orleans victory made it No. 4 in his winner tour. Harold "Jug" McSpaden, who lost the New Orleans tourney by just five strokes, continues in the second place spot for bond earnings, although he has yet to cop a championship.

A dusky welterweight boxer who idolizes another welterweight so much that he even adopted the latter's ring nickname, will meet that hero tonight in Chicago in a 10-round bout of championship possibilities. The two are Ray "Sugar" Robinson of New York and George "Sugar" Costner, Cincinnati Negro. Both fighters are discharged veterans of World War II. Costner began his fist career about three years ago and had a partially successful campaign before entering service, but since his discharge from the army has won 23 straight fights by knockouts. Not bad, and keep an eye on that boy.

Received a letter from Dean Nelson, the former high school basketball star, now with Westminster College, telling of the team's recent travels, and losses. The Titan squad took on Hamline University and Mr. Howie Schultz in Boston last Thursday. Nelson says that all the talk about Schultz is no kidding—he rates as the best. The Hamline crew dumped the Westminster boys and, says Dean, "every one of their boys is a wonderful shot. You have to stick with them every minute, or else." Nelson was high scorer in the Hamline-Titan tilt, racking up 11 markers to his credit, plus playing all but the last two minutes of the game. Not bad for a frosh. Nelson goes on to tell of their game in Buffalo last Saturday against Bowling Green. The Titans took it on the chin again and also lost all chances of receiving and tournament bids. Nelson paced the Titans against the 6'11" giant, Don Otten, and Bowling Green, with 16 points before going out of the game at halftime via the personal foul route.

This corner cares not to engage in any flurry of verbal statements as to who was the best basketball player in Warren High ever had. Without a doubt, Al Wolfe was the finest player of his time. But the type of basketball played way back in 1923 and the type of basketball they play today in 1945 are two different things. To my so-called Brooklynesse friend let me say this: In 1923 the competition was not so great as it is today. In 1923 teams concentrated mainly on scoring and not spending part of the time keeping the opponent from answering points. Today, in 1945, basketball teams concentrate mainly on two things: 1, score, and 2, keep the other team from scoring. Just thought you'd like to know, Mr. Kennett, in case you haven't seen a game since 1923. However, I do not belittle in any way the abilities of Al Wolfe. To those who remember him, he was the best. But, just the same, I still like to watch Joe Scalise in action. Why? I've played ball with him for five years. I know his abilities, too. Be seeing you, Fritz.

Harrisburg, Feb. 14.—(P)—Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, said today plans were completed for the annual state-wide scholastic basketball championships, which this year will include both class A and B schools.

The Class A competition will get under way March 13 and end March 24, with Class B schools swinging into action March 14 and concluding March 24.

"This is our first year for a Class B tournament," said Wicht, "and we plan to conduct it along the same lines that proved successful in Class A for many years. In both classes we must wait until the finalists are determined before picking a site for the championship games."

One change has been made in Class A tournament as a result of the Class B event. There will be no District 12 representative in Class A. All schools in that area being listed as Class B schools with an enrollment of fewer than 400 students in grades nine to twelve.

As in former years the state will be divided into districts with Districts 1, 2, 3, 4 and 11 as eastern representatives in Class A and 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 competing for the western title.

The Class A schedule follows: Eastern Sector: March 13—District 8 vs. District 11, with District 1 receiving a bye.

District 2 vs. District 4. Western Sector: District 9 vs. District 10 with District 8 receiving a bye.

District 5 vs. District 7 with District 6 receiving a bye. March 17—Winner of 3 vs. 11 meeting District 1.

Western Sector: Winner of 9 vs. 10 meeting District 8; winner of 5 vs. 7 meeting District 6.

March 20—Eastern Finals. Western Finals. March 24, State Finals.

The Class B competition will be confined to nine districts this year, with 7, 8 and 11 not participating. Eastern Districts consist of 1, 2, 3, 4 and 12, while in the west 5, 6, 9 and 10 will compete.

The Class B schedule follows: Eastern Sector: March 14—District 1 vs. District 3.

District 2 vs. District 12 with District 4 receiving a bye. Western Sector: District 5 vs. District 6.

District 9 vs. District 10. March 17—Winner of 2 vs. 12 meeting District 4.

March 21—Eastern Finals. Western Finals. March 24—State Finals.

NFO Girls Crew Tangles With Struthers Wells

The most bitterly contested battle ever to be fought in the YWCA Girls' basketball league gets under way tonight on the YW court with the two top teams in the loop bidding for honors. The league-leading National Forge sextet tangles with the strong Struthers Wells crew in a single bill at 7:15.

The Forge aggregation is led by Onelda Sheffer, high-scoring ace who holds top scoring honors in the loop. The Irvine quint has previously defeated the Wells crew this season, but the local plant-workers may spring some surprises in tonight's test.

The Forge girls have just purchased new uniforms which will be used tonight for the first time.

Self-Watering Seed Box Helps Get Early Start

Amateur gardeners who start Victory garden seeds indoors will find success easier if they make use of the latest device for watering—wick feeding. You bore a hole in the bottom of a shallow box (seedsmen sell them knocked down); insert a wick, preferably of fibre glass, about 4 inches long. A lamp wick, or even a piece of cotton clothesline will serve quite well. The box is elevated on two pieces of wood, so that the lower end of the wick can be immersed in water in a saucer, pan, or what have you.

This simple device solves the most difficult problem of managing a seed box, which is watering. Keep the reservoir filled, and the soil in the box will remain at just the right state of dampness, without dripping or drying.

Top Cut—Wick is pushed through hole in bottom of flat, frayed tip is embedded in soil.

To start the action, soil is first saturated by lowering the box in a tub of water; and after it has stopped dripping, it is placed in a dark place until the seeds germinate.

Lower Cut—Lower end of wick is immersed in water in dish below flat. Wick keeps soil moist.

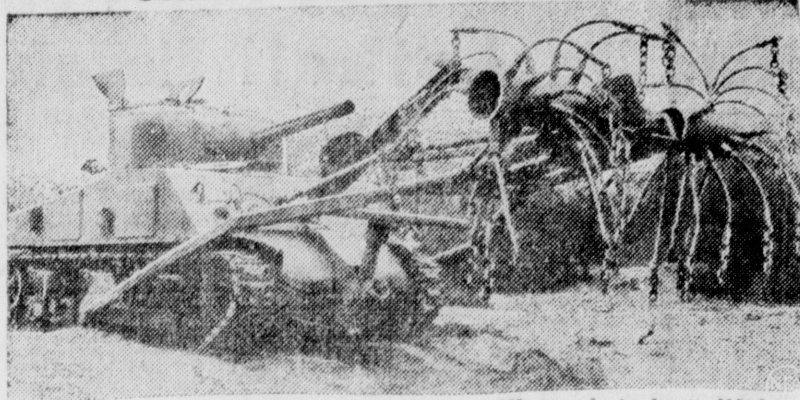

Sphagnum moss can be used, if desired, to prevent damping-off, which is a fungus disease that frequently attacks seedlings. Rub the moss through a coarse sieve or colander and place a layer of this shredded moss over the soil in the flat, to the depth of 1/4 to 1/2 inch. Firm and saturate soil and moss. Drop the seeds on the moss, and cover very lightly with a thin layer of sphagnum. Proceed from this point on as with soil culture.

Seedlings may be sown in this seed starter in rows, broadcast or in plant heads. When sown in rows or broadcast, more seedlings can be grown; but either they should be transplanted once indoors to another starter in which the plant bands are used; or they should be sown late enough to permit transplanting to the open garden before they get too large.

To broadcast, shake seed from packet so that it falls as evenly as possible over the entire flat; then cover lightly with a fine soil or sand and firm by pressing lightly with a block of wood.

Immediately sprouts appear place the box in the sunniest window you own. A kitchen window is good, because humidity is always greater there.

SeaBees Make a Mine-Spanker

(Navy photo from NEA)

The spider-like attachment on the U. S. Marine tank above, is the SeaBees' answer to the peril of enemy-sown mines. Tubular hubs, from which chain-tipped flails hang, revolve rapidly, whirling the flails so they lash the ground, detonating contact mines which may be in the tank's path. They also set up an electrical field which explodes magnetic mines.

The Whole Scout Family

Specialized phases of the Boy Scout Program have been developed for boys on three age levels. Cubbing is designed for boys 9, 10, and 11. Scouting in the Troop is for boys 12 to 15 and older. The Senior Scout Program, which includes Sea Scouts, Explorers and Air Scouts, is designed for boys and young men 15 and older. Since 1910 more than 12,000,000 boys and men have been members of the Boy Scouts of America.

Report To Congress May Be Made By President

(From Page One)

25 United Nations conference at San Francisco. That date, Byrnes indicated, may reflect important estimates of future military developments by the Big Three. He expressed conviction that it had nothing to do with Russia's plans for possibly entering the war against Japan. He described it as probably the earliest date at which the leaders thought the conference could be called in view of the military situation.

BULLETIN
Paris, Feb. 14.—(P)—Samuel Roseman left by a special plane today for Italy, where it was reliably reported he would confer with President Roosevelt. Roseman is a special advisor to the president. Roosevelt is expected to call on Pope Pius during his Italian travels, inspect war ruins there and return to various spots he visited in Italy as a young man.

If there is any hope that the major battles for Germany may be finished by that time, however, Byrnes did not indicate it. In fact, he said that the military plans made in the Crimea call "for a war involving more men than ever before in this conflict." Byrnes emphasized over and over again that the declaration on liberated areas, in which the United States is committed to share with Britain and Russia in European political settlements, is of the "greatest importance."

It means an end, he said, to the danger of political rivalries between the other two powers which would lead to development of spheres of influence.

generally is rated as second only to the Oder in eastern Germany's defenses. The conquest of Budapest in 49 days of street fighting cost the Germans 49,000 men killed and 110,000 captured. Moscow announced. It was the greatest single disaster to German arms since the battle of Stalingrad two years ago. Moscow announcements stressed that the vain counterattacks toward Budapest from the north-west and southwest cost the Germans additional "hundreds of tanks and tens of thousands of their officers and men."

Auctioneer Denies Charges of Bribe

1922, Ferguson said it indicated Goldberg first offered $90,000 for Camp Funston in a pre-auction bid and later raised his offer to $110,000.

When the offer was not accepted, the war department report related, Goldberg paid $138,000 at a subsequent public auction "for less property" than he had sought to obtain for $110,000.

Goldberg depicted himself as the victim of "rough treatment" and "wire-tapping" in connection with inquiries into his surplus auction sales for the government.

Last Rites for Victims of Tragic Fire to Be Held Thursday at Lottsville

bed found with the bodies was in a rear room in the rear of the first floor, but had fallen through to the cellar.

A number of guns were found in the ruins including shot guns, rifles and a 22 calibre revolver. The latter was lying in the ruins near the bodies.

The flames had gained such headway that attempt at rescue was impossible when neighbors first arrived at the scene. A few pieces of furniture which had been carried from the structure were piled to the south of the home. No sign of life was observed about the house when neighbors arrived.

While the investigation is being continued, and every effort is being made to solve the mystery, officials have about decided that the real facts as to what occurred in the home Monday evening will never be determined. It was reported that the son Dean made a telephone call about seven o'clock Monday evening to the home of a neighbor to make an inquiry about his car which was parked along the main highway. It is believed that he made the inquiry in connection with his plans to get to Warren to leave for Harrisburg yesterday morning with a selective service contingent. According to his brother Robert, who owns an adjoining farm, and was visiting relatives in Pittsburgh, Dean had completed the evening chores for him. The tragedy in the William Scott home, it is believed, must have occurred soon after Dean returned from his work on his brother's farm.

In spite of the fact that the farm is almost completely isolated by deep snow, and the Wilson hill road leading within a mile of it is banked high on each side with snow, and in some places restricted to one-way travel, a large number of people visited the scene yesterday. The basket containing the bodies was taken from the farm to the main road on bobsleds provided by a neighboring farmer.

Suspicion that violence of some nature occurred before the fire is borne out by the fact that it occurred before the three occupants of the home retired. Those familiar with their home life state that they were very careful about the stoves and about the idea that they may have been overcome.

The fact that the skull of Mrs. Scott contained injuries that were plainly identified as bullet holes leads to the belief that there was some shooting preceding the fire. Mr. Scott had been in ill health for some time, and had been under treatment at the Veterans' hospital in Batavia, N. Y. He was known to be despondent over his condition and the fact that the son had been called for examination and induction in the army, although it is understood that the boy was under the farm classification and it was not known what decision would have been made in his case. There was a story circulating Tuesday that the father had not been informed of the trip to Harrisburg as late as Monday afternoon, although this has not been verified.

Resistance At Manila Is Nearing End

which, during the fifth week of the Luzon campaign, exceeded 20,000. The First Cavalry Division which crossed the Pasig on the eastern edge of Manila and skirted the devastated battle pit of the 37th, plunged all the way west to Manila Bay yesterday through suburban Pasay.

Below Pasay, the 11th Airborne Division snuffed out all enemy resistance at Nichols airfield. Other elements captured Cavite.

American casualties for the fifth week rose from 7,076 to 9,683. The totals consisted of 2,102 killed—an increase of slightly over 500 in a week—192 missing and 7,389 wounded.

Out in Manila Bay, Japan's silenced fortress of Corregidor was fed 150 more tons of bombs Monday, today's communique disclosed.

In central Luzon, where a drive to the east coast at Dingalan Bay cut the island in half, the Sixth Division has reached Baler Bay.

Abdication Proclamation

For three days out of the entire year I abdicate all responsibility for the merchandising of the Metzger-Wright Co. I turn the store over to the Department Heads, lock, stock and barrel. It is their responsibility to decide what merchandise is most in need of Clearance. It is their job to decide what amount of markdowns to take. It is, in short, their complete responsibility to clean house in their various departments, to get rid of all broken lots, excess stocks, and seasonal goods—with no questions asked. This year, operating as we are under the restrictions of the Inventory Limitation Regulation, it is more than ever important that they do a good job of housecleaning. I do not know of any store in any town of 15,000 throughout the country that has a more able staff of buyers. They will do this clearance job right—and you will profit.

Wm. Wright
President.
